Question of Electoral Fusion To Be Settled at Once

BOTH PARTIES WILL CONFER

Populist and Democratic State Executive Committees To Meet.

CONSULTATION WAS HELD YESTERDAY

Washburn and Reed Talk Over the Matter with the Democratic Electors-What They Say of the Situation Up to the Present Time.

Today's result will draw the lines for the big battle to come in Georgia. Whether it shall be peace or war to the hilt; whether the populists and democrats, hand in hand, shall march together, bringing up a strong and solid front for Bryan, or whether they shall spl t asunder and wield their machetes over the breach, will be decided this morning when the state democratic executive committee is called in session, and when the populist state central committee con

Upon the outcome of the day will depend the method of the fight to follow. Shall Bryan forces be arrayed against Bryan forces? Shall the silver factions of the state split and begin to knife each other! Shall allied forces, fighting for a commor purpose, struggling for one object, united stand and pull up a democratic victory unprecedented in Georgia? Will the demand of the populist committee be acceded to by the democrats and a division of electors all voting for Watson, be accomplished Will the recommendation of the national executive committee of the populist party be accepted and fusion with democratic

These are the questions which face the wo parties this morning, and these are he questions which will be discussed when he dramatic incidents of the day trans-

Today will tell the story of the fight in Washburn and Reed Come.

From their interview with Hon. Thomas Watson National Committeemen Washburn and Reed returned to Atlanta yester-day morning. For over a day they had been loseted with the man who stands for the populist party in the south. For a day they had discussed those questions which are of such vital interest to their party. All phases of the vexing problem had been considered. They had sifted the question of fusion, of fusion in Georgia, of fusion in the other states, until the matter was thoroughly exhausted. Tom Watson, in his stern, implacable way, had stated his position to them. He had outlined his polloy and given them to understand just what he has been thinking about in these days when Le bas been nursing his wrath to keep it warm, and doctoring a sore throat to get it in speaking trim. Upon the other hand, both national committeemen had explained the result of the consultation held in Chicago. They explained to him in ro unmistakable terms what was meant by the fusion resolution passed by the committee. They gave Mr. Watson to understand that it was no direct fling at him when they came to their determination upon the question of combination with the democratic forces. What they did was what they thought best for the party. It was the opinion of the committee, after long consultation, that this was the proper policy to be adhered to. In this way the populist party could be preserved in all its pristine strength. That was the position taken by Chairman Butler and all those who were present at the meeting of the committee in Chicago. Mr. Reed explained that as a representative of Mr. Watson, he had agreed to what was done, thinking it best. He told of the states in which successful fusion arrangements had been made; he explained that there were states in which is was not only advisable, but necessary, to fuse with democrats in order to obtain their pro rata share of the votes.

All of these matters were explained to Mr. Watson. He listened to them calmly. He heard of what was to be done and what vas going to be done. Just the position held by Mr. Watson on this question, the national committeemen would not say yes terday, but it was judged that he still sticks to his immutable decision. His position has been clearly defined from the outset. He has hung to the belief that it is wrong primarily for a populist to cast his vote for Sewall. It is his opinion that Sewall is not the man who should be championed by the people of the south He holds with fixed and polar-star rigidity that it is morally wrong for the populists to east their votes for that man whom he thinks is a plutocrat and a representative of the moneyed interests of the east, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Sewall is an unyielding advocate of the free coinage

From this position, which he accepted early in the campaign, Mr. Watson has never budged. Whether he has been implored by the highest dignitaries of his own party, whether he has been impugned representatives of other parties, whethe he has been attacked, or begged, Mr. Watson, calm of mein, imperturbable, inexable, has still stuck to his first post

It is the opinion of Mr. Watson that his y has attempted to override him. He feels that the members of the national comtee have made a grievous blunder in ttempting to conduct the campaign withfirst referring their questions to him.

misused and disregarded upon those mat-ters which have vital effect upon his party. It is his opinion that he should have been considered first in all things, that he was the real representative and exponent of the populist belief, and not Bryan, ner any other man connected with the race or the campaign Against Mr. Watson in this position have been arraigned the leading spirits of the populist party: against him has been placed the judgment of such men as Wash-burn, Butler, Allen and others who have had the active management of the cam-paign in hand. They have believed in conducting the fight on broader lines; they have declared that it was their belief that there should be no dissension in ranks of the Bryan people; they have been willing to make enormous sacrifices to secure the

In doing this they have not meant any disrespect to Mr. Watson. What they did and what action was taken at Chicago was thought by the committee to be in the end best for the populist party.

Their Mission Here. It was to explain this position that Com mitteemen Reed and Washburn came to Georgia. It was to assure Mr. Watson that they were still with him, and that while they might differ upon some immaterial points, they considered him the real head and front of the populist party. It was to explain to Mr. Watson that they meant to co-operate with him in all his undertakings, that the two committeemen nade their trip. Just what Mr. Watson said, neither of

Both were wonderfully silent upon the salient features which instigated their trip. Another Consultation Held. There was another significant consultation in Atlanta yesterday, Mr. Reed and Mr. Washburn, as soon as they arrived, called on Captain E. P. Howell and had conference with him and with Elector J. W. Robertson. Hon. Patrick Walsh, of Augusta, was also present. Hon, Clark by Senator Jones, chairman of the national democratic committee, to return from Chiengo to represent the national democratic For a long time the representatives of the two parties were locked together discussing the matters which will reach a final solution today, and which may or may not materialize into a satisfactory fusion electo ral ticket. The matter uppermost in the eyes of the mocrats and of more than passing importance to the populist party because of the effect upon the fight to come between this time and the day of the national elec tion, is the question of fusion in this state. Whether this fusion will be accomplished will depend largely upon the attitude of the populist party. It is stated that the democrats are willing to effect any fusion which will be based upon fair grounds They are willing to give to the other party anything that they demand of a fair and fust nature. None of those in consultation yesterday would discuss the nature of their conference: Committeeman Washburn was seen just before he left on the 3 o'clock train for Chicago.

"I do not care to talk of the result of any onsultation I have had." he said. "What we have done will be determined in time The result will be learned quickly enough, and it is a matter upon which I would prefer not to be interviewed.

"I will state," said Mr. Washburn in reply to a question, "that there seems to be a Bryan wave sweeping over the entire country. I have never seen the sentiment in favor of the silver nominee so strong has been during the last two weeks This has been due to a great extent to the incomparable campaign waged by the leader of our forces. He has made a record no equal of which is afforded by history. This has impressed the people of America and they have rallied to his support. I believe that several of the states placed in the doubtful column even by the most sanguine tabulists of the democratic party will go for Bryan. Indiana will fall in line and Kentucky will follow the lead. "As the campaign now stands, looking at it from an impartial standpoint, I am led to believe that the chances of the election of Bryan are as solld as they could be." Upon this line Mr. Washburn talked for time. He is an ardent Bryan man. As to the result of the interview with Mr Watson and as to the outcome of the consultation with the representatives of the democratic party in this state, Mr Washburn would say nothing. His answer was quiet and polite.

"I prefer to say nothing on these questions. Please do not press me."

What Mr. Reed Says. Mr. Reed was likewise seen in regard to the consultation and the result. "I am net in an interview huntor," he said, significantly. "I really do not care to discuss the condition as to the fusion question. Please excuse me."

Upon the question of Bryan and his success. Mr. Reed waxed enthusiastic. He stated that he felt much encouranged over the prospect and that there was every reason to hope for the election of Bryan. As soon as he left Mr. Washburn, Mr. Reed repaired to the headquarters of the populist party, on Wall street, where he nferred with the leaders of the party in the recent state fight.

Governor Atkinson Was Consulted. Upon the affairs which came up at the consultation Governor Atkinson was con-

All Were Silent. To all appearances those who were lockin the consultation room yesterday agreed not to divulge any plans or any decis'on agreed upon. After the conference was finished Messrs. Washburn and Reed left together, talking confidentially and earnestly. The representatives of the democratic party were like wise indulging in an aftermath reflection, but would have nothing to the point to say on the question as to what had been accomplished at the consultation. All acknowledged that the matter of fusion was the paramount feature of discussion, but were clamlike when it came to a statement of what decision had been reached.

The Result Today. But the result of the whole matter will e reached today. At noon the state democratic executive committee convened and at the same hour the state central committee of the populist party will meet. Last night the balls of the hotels were crowded with members of both parties eargerly discussNATIONAL COMMITTEE STRIKES A WARNING NOTE

"In view of the fact that the great corporations, with scarcely an exception, and many of the large employers of labor in the United States are engaged in a concerted effort to coerce their employes into voting at the approaching election against their own convictions, I deem it my duty to call upon all those who believe in the supremacy of the law and the untrammeled freedom of the individual in the right of exercising the ballot, to use their utmost effort to prevent the success of this most flagrant act of lawlessness; for if this conspiracy succeeds government by corporations will have succeeded government by the people.

"The corporations which thus appeal to force and fraud strike at the very foundations of republican government and the lovers of free institutions must arouse themselves to save the country from its great peril. Especially should the workingmen assert their manhood rights. If they vote their convictions and in accordance with their interests the democratic ticket is certain of election, and in that case the employing corporations will have no desire to embark upon a policy of punishment. In the contest that is raging, the salvation of the workingman fles in the assertion at the polls of his rights as a free and independent American citizen. The perpetration of this attempted outrage upon the free suffrage will work its own cure. An indignant people, jealous of their rights, will demand that the legislatures, state and national, shall proceed at once by rigorous measures, to prevent the possibility of a repetition of such attempts hereafter.

"The national committee, backed by the full power of the democratic oganization in every state of the union, pledges itself that every scoundrel, whether public officer or private citizen, who is detected in any violation of the law, shall be vigorously prosecuted and sent to the penitentiary, if possible.

Lima, O., October 19. The enthusiasm which marked William J. Bryan's previous sallies into Ob'o during this campaign began to show itself anew on his first entry nto Major McKinley's state this morning His special train left Detroit at 4:45 a. m. and reached Toledo, O., at 6:30, and premonitory symptoms of a busy day for the cand'date developed there. Two or three hundred men in the union station called for Mr. Bryan, and, rising from his berth and making a hasty toilet, he went out on the platform and talked to them. Fifteen minutes only were spent at Toledo. Stops were made by the train, which was in charge of Daniel McConnell, chairman of the Ohio democratic state ommittee, at Perrysburg, Weston, Desher. Leipsic. Ottawa and Columbus Grove. The biggest crowd was at Leipsic, which was reached at 8:25. Mr. Bryan made a short address there. Brief remarks were made at all the other places mentioned, with the exception of Weston, and at each the candidate was received with considerable enthusiasm. Several thousand people welcomed Mr. Bryan at Lima. He read extracts from Chairman Hanna's American flag letter, published yesterday, and in commenting (cheer).

Another audience of several thousand was at Wapokoneta. As at Lima, Mr. Bryan spoke from a stand in the town.

George A. Marshall, democraite candidate for congress, introduced Mr. Bryan to 2,500 people at Sidney and the national nominee made a brief speech. Piqua turned out the banner crowd of the day up to that time. It numbered about 6,000, including many who came nearby communities.

According to ex-Governor James E.

Campbell, in his speech introducing William J. Bryan at a big political meeting this afternoon, the largest audience ever seen in Hamilton was there. Certainly it was a great crowd, numbering in the neighborhood of 10,000 and many thousands who did not attend the speech-making at the courthouse square were on the streets along which the democratic candidate was taken. Dayton gave Mr. Bryan the most enthu-sastic demonstration of the day. In fact, two greetings were accorded him there. The first was not on the programme.

In the run over to Hamilton the train passed through Dayton and a crowd of nearly, if not quite, 10,000 surrounded it in the railway station during its short wait there and cheered the nominee tor several minutes. On the return to Dayton from Hamilton the principal exercises of the day took place.

THREE WORKMEN ARE INJURED

Required an Hour's Hard Work To Becover One Body.

SUPERINTENDENT HAD GIVEN WARNING

Building Was Only One Story High, but Concrete Was Heavy Enough To Crush the Laborers.

Richmond, Va., October 19 .- (Special.)-A part of the roof of a section of the new rotunda of the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, fell in today, killing two men and wounding three others.

The structure was only one story high. Just a year ago the famous rotunda and several other buildings, including the library, were destroyed by fire. The loss was serious, and attracted the attention of Virginians and college men all over the country. This interest was manifested by the prompt subscriptions of many thou sands of dollars by the alumni in all of the leading cities of the country for the pur-pose of restoring the old institution of learning. With the money thus subscribed, and with bonds which the legislature authorized the institution to issue, the work of restoring the buildings was at

This has now advanced to such a stage that it will not be long before the old university will be placed in a better position than it was before the conflagration

The roof was constructed with concrete girders, strengthened by steel cables passing through them. The span of roof was about thirty feet, and was supported by brick walls. The cause of the accident was the removal of the centers, of the arches before the concrete had hardened sufficiently. The wires were not broken but the top of the walls was dragged down the great weight of cement, girders and roof.

It is said that Mr. Skinner, superintend ing architect, had, a short time before the roof fell, given orders to the foreman for concrete workers not to remove the centers as he did not consider the walls dry enough The two men killed were EUGENE

BUNCH and GEORGE TUCKER. Bunch's remains were taken to the dispensary. His head had been crushed and other injuries received. Tucker's body was not recovered until after an hour's hard work. His body was terribly mashed and bis head crushed.

The wounded are: L. D. Bowen, skull fractured; V. W. Chambers, injured about the head; Joseph Lamb, wounded about the head and face.

DIDN'T WANT TO BE PRESS AGENT

Mr. Bryan Denies the Story Connecting Him with Theatrical Work.

Washington Courthouse, O., October 19. Mr. Bryan today denied the report which appeared in Leslie's Weekly that he had applied to the managers of the Herald Square theater, New York, last January for the position of press agent. The denial was called forth by several other newspaper statements saying that he had been on the stage; he had thought about going on the stage and that he had written a criti-

A Son of the Pennsylvania Senator Will Soon Visit North Carolina

SCHEMES OF FRAUB SHOWING

Attempts Will Be Made To Vote Two Ballots Containing Electors' Names-The Tickets.

Raleigh, N. C., October 19 .- (Special.)-At state republican headquarters it is stated that in three or four days the tickets will be given to the printer. They will not contain the name of Ruffin Henderson, republican nominee for auditor, as he has, in compliance with a suggestion from headuarters, declined to be a candidate any

The name of Hal Ayer, populist, will be put on in place of Henderson. Ayer said this was news to him, but expressed great pleasure at it.

It was also stated at republican headquarters that there would be no arrange-ments with the populists as to lieutenant governor and that Oliver H. Dockery and continue to be the populist and republican minees respectively.

It is said that a son of Senator Quay's will be in North Carolina, or is already here, in McKinley's interest. Eight years fore he was discovered. He was then do-

News also comes of a great scheme to perpetrate a fraud by voting two ballots containing electors names. Under the new election law a ballot must be counted no matter whether it is in the right box or not. The letter which exposes this scheme says that judges of election may be bribed by those who are working this scheme. The populists and republicans will have sepa-rate tickets. Announcement is made at republican headquarters that fusion populists over county affairs and legisla-ture has been effected in forty-five counties and that in almost forty-five the republicans will make a straight fight. The latter have nominated county officers in all save six counties. Republicans and most of the leaders are trying to break up the fusion with populists which democrats af fected in son counties. #### VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS AROUSED Republican Plans To Rob Bryan of the State Causes Indignation. Richmond, Va., October 19 .- (Special.)-Nothing has so aroused the Virginia democrats for many years as the plans of the republicans and bolters for carrying this state for McKinley.

Besides the importation of Pinkerton detectives to bulldoze the election officers as related in these dispatches last night the cans and their allies have adopted a plan for terrorizing the employes of the ailroad and other corporations, and forcing to vote against Bryan.

The plan is upon the pretense of preventing democrats from committing election frauds to station three watches at each polling place in the state. These men are to demand of each voter as he appears for whom he intends to vote. The scheme will enable the corporations to ascertain exactly how all of these men have voted. In the precincts in which employes of such corporat ons dwell will be put bosses who know the workmen. This plan will, the republicans and bolters believe, enable them to intimidate all of these men into opposing Bryan and the democratic congressional candidates. This scheme and the use of great gangs of Pinkerton dein the black belts to a pitch never witnessed since the contest of 1883, when almost every man went around with a revolve in expectation of a bloody collision.

The lawyers attempted to get him acquitted ground of accidental killing, in that he laimed to have unintentionally trigger controlling the load of bucksh when he intended firing only the squirrel shot into his neighbor to "show that he was not afraid of him." When Supposed To Be Off for Cuba the Craft Pulls Alongside the Boutwell and Ties Up.

Savannah, Ga., October 19 .- (Special.)-The fillbustering steamer Three Friends has just turned a trick on the revenue marine service that will make old salts of the days of the sixtles smile.

Thursday last the Three Friends left Jacksonville ostensibly to raise a sunken wreck. It would require a crew of extra size for such work, hence the increas number of men aboard was accounted for, The revenue cutter Lot M. Morrill was ordered to accompany the Three Friends on her wreck-raising trip. Leisurely the little freighter steamed up the coast with the Morrill at her heels.

Sunday they arrived off Wilmington, N. C., the Three Friends still looking for her wreck and the Morrill watching her. Sunday night both vessels put into harbor.

Monday morning they sailed out again together, the steamer still intently looking for the wreck. Night came upon them between Charleston and Savannah and the steamer burned plenty of light to show that she had no notion of playing hide and seek. The cutter people were reassured and took matters easy, permitting the Three Friends to put several miles between them.

Then, all at once, the lights on the steamer went out and never burned up again. The Morrill hustled but the Three Friends was gone. When daylight came there was not so much as a speck on the horizon and the Morrill came into port here this morning for coal and supplies. The steamship Kansas City arrived here today from New York. She reports that at an early hour this morning she sighted a two-masted schooner off Charleston bearing south. Sea captains here say the oner and the Three Friends were pals and that the steamer now has the sch er's cargo and is on the way to Cuba. The Three Friends carried off with her Petty Officer Newman, of the Morrill, who was put on board to watch her movements. Jacksonville, Fla., October 19.-The steam er Three Friends arrived at the St. Johns bar at 5 o'clock this afternoon and anchored close to the revenue cutter Boutwell. The cutter Morrill, which left this port in company with the Three Friends, last Thursday, has not yet arrived.

Dr. Taylor is a ending physician of Mertwether county. He represented Meriwether some years ago in the legislature, and at the recent state election was again elected with Hon. B. F. McLaughlin, a prominent lawyer of Green-ville. Two years ago the populists carried Meriwether county by 600 majority, but this year, by reason of the great popularity of Messrs Taylor and McLaughlin, the county went democratic about 700 majority. It was one of the greatest victories won in the state at the late election. Dr. Taylor is a trustee of the Georgia school for the deaf and dumb, at Cave Spring, and he will leave in the morning for that place to at-tend the annual meeting of the trustees. Hon. W. C. Kendrick, of the finance committee, like Dr. Taylor, is also a leading physician in his section of the state, and like Dr. Taylor has long been a member of the grand chapter. He is closely identified with Masonry, and takes active interest in politics. Dr. Kendrick has often ably in politics. Dr. Kendrick has often ably represented Terrell county in the legislature, and will be a member of the next house. Dr. Kendrick enjoys the unique distinction of having represented two countles in the legislature—Webster and Terrell. Hon. J. F. Walker, of Webster county, is greatly attached to Masonry. Colonel Walker has represented his district in the state senate, and has often been a delegate to state conventions. He is a trustee of one or more state institutions.

Quite a number of delegates to the first annual state convention of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which assembles in Macon tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, have arrived, and the indications are the convention will be largely attended.

his county about eight miles north of this place.

Rev. T. J. Dodd, of Fairburn, was pastor of the church until recently and the most cordial relations existed between him and his flock. But this brotherly love state of affairs was not destined to continue.

Mr. R. W. Mason and Mr. George Smith are both leading members of this church and both are prominent citizens of the community. Some time ago a young son of Mr. Mason's wrote a letter to a young daughter of Mr. Smith's, themselves members of the church also, in which he gave expression to the most undying sentiments of love and affection and supplemented these statements with an immoral proposal. The young lady reported the matter to her father and he became very indignant. He brought the matter before the pastor and church and after a good deal of wrangling it was decided to refer it to the bastor for settlement. The pastor decided that the young man should withdraw from church fellowship. To this, however, the young man's father and friends refused to accede and the pastor, a conscientious, Christian gentleman, gave notice that unless his decision was sustained he would resign. The Mason faction refused to yield and Pastor Dodd's resignation was accepted. Sunday he preached his farewell sermon.

The petition states that the business manager of The Journal was out of the city both times that Mr. Nicoll called, but that the written copy furnished by Mr. Nicoll was placed with Mr. John S. when Mr. Nicoll visited Atlanta the second time, the written matter had been set up in type, but Mr. Parks called h.s attention to numerous complaints that had been received from New York criti-cising the conduct of Nicoli in connection

On July 16th or 17th the defendant received a letter from the plaintiff in which, referring to the attitude of The Journal on sound money, he said: 'I find almost all the advertisers think much more of the good the subscription to the supplement will do to that cause than the benefit it will be to them in a business way."

COLLEGE PARK SPELLING BEE.

THE TOWNSMEN AND THE COL LEGE GIRLS MEET IN COMBAT.

College Girls Come Off with Flying Colors and Their Opponents Are Declared Not in It.

The young ladies of the Southern Female college ignominiously defeated the citizens of College Park in a spelling bee last night. The bee was of the choosing of the townsmen and the defeat as well as the result must rest on their heads.

There has been great rivalry among the young ladies of the college and the peo-ple of College Park for a long time as to spelling, and at last the citizens challenged the girls, which, of course, was spelling, and at last the citizens challenged the girls, which, of course, was promptly accepted.

The orthographical contest occurred last night and was held in the college chapet. Dr. William Crenshaw acted as the captain for the young ladles and Major D. U. Joan acted in that capacity for the citizens. Professor C. C. Cox and Hon. John Temple Graves gave out the words.

The last of the townspeople were Mrs. John Temple Graves and Mr. Will Hutchinson. These two stuck bravely as long as they could, but in the end yielded to the unconquerable mysteries of the blueback speller. The last of the young ladles to stand up were Misses Willie Lester, of 'Union Springs, Ala.; Susie Babis, of Florida; and Edith Estes, of Talbotton.

Miss Estes proved herself to be a wonder. She beat the people of the town. She beat the people of the town. She beat the judges gave up in despair and closed the old blueback speller and announced the bee was at an end.

Dr. Crenshaw had a trombone and a brass drum, and Major Sloan had a hunting horn. Now, whenever anyone who was on the opposite sides essayed to fall out of ranks, these two gentlemes would blow with much violence on their respective instruments. This was supposed to ease the feelings of the unfortunates and let them down easy. The bee was an immense success and the two friendly rivals are already looking forward to the next one.

They had used a broom-handle to make a short handle for each of the bludgeons and intended to use the ugly weapons to knock down and overcome the sheriff and make their escape. They were removed to safer quarters.

Are Talking Odds for Effect, but Betting Is Nearly Even.

There is not much betting in Atlanta on the national election. The men who risk their money on the result of political battles appear to be fewer this year than usual, and only a few actual bets of interest have been recorded.

The political situation has presented so nany complications, so many uncertainies and so many issues in different sections that the betting men are unable to clearly define the prospects of either of the presidential candidates to the extent that they are willing to risk their money on the re-

The news comes from the north that the big odds offered on McKinley a week or ten days ago are no longer to be had and that betting is nearer at even money than in favor of McKinley. The change is attributed to the fact that Bryan men cover-ed several big offers of odds on McKinley in New York, and it seems that as the campaign draws to a close the betting is becoming more even.

In Atlanta the McKinley men have made many pretensions that they would bet odds on their favorite, but the Bryan men say that a good deal of talk is being indulged in on the part of the McKinley men for effect. The Bryan men think that in a few days the situation will simplify itself and that the odds on McKinley will be no long-

There are innumerable bets of hats, canes, ites and articles of small value and amounts of less than $10, but only a few bets of importance are known of. Money is scarce among the usual betting popula-tion, it seems, but next week will probably witness considerable activity in the betting

Mr. Colvin's Unique Bet. Alderman John Colvin thinks that Palmer and Buckner are in disrepute with the people of this country. He probably has as little respect for the gold men's ticket as any old-time democrat in the city. As an evidence of his estimate of the gold ticket Mr. Colvin has made two unique bets on the November election. Mr. Colvin made a bet with a friend of his that Palmer and Buckner will no carry a single voting precinct in the United States. He gets odds of 10 to 1. He is confident that he will win the money of his friend, whose name he declines to di-vulge, because, he says, his friend is a church member and it might injure him

Another bet made by Mr. Colvin is that Palmer and Buckner will not carry a county in the United States. He says that Bryan will be elected and that if he had g money to put up he would bet on the latter both e secured odds of 3 to 1.

Mr. Woodward thinks that there is a chance for Bryan in New York and when Mr. William Fersyth, the United States secret service man, offered to bet 3 to 1 that McKinley will carry that state Mr. Woodward took him up. Mr. Forsyth bets 320 to 10 there. Now New York New Yo $30 to $10 that McKinley will carry New York.
Colonel Woodward made a bet with Mr. Howell Erwin that Bryan w'll be elected. The bet is at even money, $25 against $25. Mr. Erwin thinks that McKinley will receive a majority of the votes in the elec toral college.

"I have $10 on Bryan," said Mr. P. G. Kenney yesterday. "All good, shiny, silver dollars. With the bet goes my best wishes, and I might say my best judgment. But I've got a silk hat on McKinley, too. Got friends on both sides, you know, and

However, he sat on the outside and listen-

SMITH GOES TO JAIL.

12 WHITEHALL ST ATLANTA

COMMISSIONER BROYLES SAYS HE CHANGED THE BILL.

Smith Could Not Furnish the Required Amount of Bail and Must Await His Trial.

Edwin W. Smith, the young white man who was tried Saturday in the court of United States Commissioner Broyles, was yesterday sent to jail in default of $500

Yesterday morning Commissioner Broyles handed down his decision in the case, finding that Smith was guilty of having passed counterfeit coin. The bond was then made ing that Smith was guilty of having passed counterfeit coin. The bond was then made in the sum of $500, but Smith stated that he was unable to give this required amount of ball, and was sent to jail in default. Smith is well known in Atlanta, and has been living on Courtland street several weeks prior to his arrest. He came to Atlanta some time ago from Washington, Ga., where he is said to be connected with one of the best families of the state.

lanta some time ago from Washington, Ga., where he is said to be connected with one of the best families of the state.

About two weeks ago W. S. Stalsworth, a waite man, of good family, was arrested by the federal officers. He was charged with having passed a counterfeit five-dollar bill. Stalsworth claimed that the spurious coin was made by Smith, and the arrest of the latter then followed. Smith was arrested last Thursday upon information given by Stalsworth and others who were interested in the case.

A number of witnesses from Washington, Ga., testified Saturday that Smith was highly connected, and was a man of exceedingly good character. Smith himself vigorously denled knowing anything about the crime with which he was charged. Yesterday morning Smith made a statement before the commissioner, claiming that he was entirely innocent of the charges, and was in no way connected with Stalsworth and the spurious note that had been passed.

The charge was also made by Smith and his attorneys that when Stalsworth saw he was hopelessly implicated, he then implicated Smith, hoping that through this scheme he might be able himself to escape punishment.

American Bimetallists

Editor Godkin, who is not a native of any clime, in the strict sense of the word, and who, therefore, knows all about all nations in every sense of the word, has a long editorial article in The Evening Post on international misunderstanding. This article borders on what is loosely called "the able" in our polite newspaper literature, but, as in everything Editor Godkin writes, there are some queer misstatements we feel called on to hit on the head, as it were, A very peculiar one that bobs up is this:

Editor Godkin says that it would have been impossible during the past twenty years "to explain to an American silver man or bimetallist why there was no likelihood that England would adopt the double standard.'

The matter is hardly worth referring to except to show the natural tendency of Editor Godkin when he takes his pen in hand were it not for the fact that he has shown himself powerful enough to convert Mr. Dana, to say nothing of Uncle Tommy Hitchcock, of The Sun. to his peculiar views.

The statement we have quoted from Editor Godkin comes at the public wrong end foremost. It is a notorious fact that not one or all of the "international bimetallists" of the east (including Editor Godkin himself) have ever been able to convince one real bimetallist that England could ever be induced to enter into an international agreement cheapening gold and increasing the value of silver so long as other nations wait for her to take the lead.

If Editor Godkin has ever been able to know or hear of a real silver man who is willing to say that he ever believed the "international agreement' was anything more than a farce and should be glad to have his name and scheme is not only unknown in the history of the world (for the Latin union did not partake of that nature), but is abhorrent to the American, as well as to the | ment than District Attorney Clayton English, idea. the newspapers, especially just before a and the eloquent appeals of the disnational election. Here, for instance, are dark hints and suggestions in some of the metropolitan journals that would be laughed at if they appeared in The Sandusky Weekly. The little vessel, the Bancroft, which has been sent off to Smyrna is said to be engaged on a warlike mission. . It proposes to hoist Hanna's "sound" money flag and steam up the Dardanelles in full view of all creation, and if any of the Turkish melish, hiding on either shore, should dare to pop a cap or holler, "Here's your A shrewd argument, indeed, but one mule, yank," then it will be worse for the melish-that's all.

The idea that it will give aid and comfort to the Armenians, or prevent the massacre of even one Christian for the Bancroft to be puffing and snorting on the Dardanelles is so ridiculous that it could never have been conceived outside of Washington or New York. It would be far more reasonable to suggest that the Bancroft has gone to Smyrna for the purpose of fetching a box of figs, for the Benedicts or some other

'loyal" friends of the administration. The Bancroft affair is of a piece with the statement recently made in The New York Herald to the effect that if Spain had not conquered the unfortunate Cubans by the first of January Mr. Cleveland would step in and put an end to the war by one stroke of his mighty It is not intended that these statenents shall be believed by any person who is intelligent enough to understand the real reason why the will of the ople of this country is not carried out th respect to Cuba, or why the sympathy of the Christian people of the United States for the victims of Turkish barbarism is not given practical shape. But the Bancroft and Cuban paragraphs are given to the public at this time in order to convey the idea to gullible voters that Cuba will be free and a halt will be called to the Armenian outrages as soon as Bryan is defeated. As a matter of fact, the declaration has already come from the highest authorities in Wall street and some of the most powerful of those who are controlling the actions of Cleveland on the money question, that Gold and Bonds are of more importance than human life, liberty and justice-that it is more criminal and barbarous for the government of the United States to unsettle the price of stocks in Wall street by taking a firm stand for human liberty and right than it is for Weyler to murder women and children in Cuba or for the unspeakable Turk to massacre the innocents of Armenia.

That is the situation now, and the utcome of it is one of the most important issues to be settled by the election of Bryan, who stands for popular gevernment, or by the election of Mc-Kinley, who stands for the plans and purposes of the money power.

The people have short memories if they have forgotten the outcome of the Cleveland message on the Venezuelan question-a message written while he was away from the capital, and given to the public before he had time to consult with "the men who had charge of the treasury." The men who, up to that moment, had been declaring that the wisdom and patriotism of Cleveland were of such immense proportions that all our other presidents had been pigmies by comparison, turned upon him and made him the subject of the vilest abuse. His chief idolator, The New York Evening Post, declared that he was a stupid criminal. The abuse that Mr. Cleveland received was along this line. What was the trouble? Why, the simple declaration of an American principle, as old as the republic itself. caused some British holders of American securities to throw their holdings on the New York market, and prices of stocks went down. What has prevented Cleveland from carrying out what he knows to be the unanimous will of the American people with respect to Cuba? Noth ing but the fact that the holders of Spanish bonds, or their agents in New

What is atrocious in this matter is not the attitude of the bondholders; that is natural and should be expected. It will be remembered that certain "business men" joined in an earnest petition against the declaration of independence on the ground that it would disturb business, or, in other words, interfere with their profits. The unspeakable outrage of the present situation lies in the fact that there can be found a president of the United States who, while pretending to represent the people, is willing to sacrifice their hopes and desires to the greed of a few men who have invested in American, Spanish and Turkish bonds.

Still another proof of the political revenge which the present administration in the building of a railroad along the to visit upon those postponing action in this country, we holders of the government who, in the exercise of their constitutional rights, address. The real bimetallists of this have ventured to oppose the single gold country have never been in favor of an standard, is found in the recent removal "international agreement" as a method of District Attorney Henry D. But laying aside all scruples and admitting for the sake of the argument that District Attorney Clayton was rightfully guillotined, how does it happen that a subordinate officer of the government is thus treated while those who are high in authority are left un molested? It seems that Secretary Carlisle, Attorney General Harman, Secretary Morton and Postmaster General Wilson can neglect the duties of their cabinet positions whenever they like and no one has anything to say. These men have been making speeches over the country, bitterly antagonizing organized democracy, and yet they have drawn their salaries with as much composure of mind as if they never left their duties in Washington. If the rule is a good one it should apply as rigidly to Seretary Morton and Comptroller Eckels as it dees to District Attorney Clayton, and like the sovereign law of the land it should be no ecter of persons.

Sir Julian's Mission. It is believed that Sir Julian Paunce fote, the British ambassador, who is now on his way to this country, is empowered by his government with full uthority to settle the Venezuelan ques-

The American side of this vexed issue between the two countries is undoubt edly correct. Several days ago it was announced that a decision had been reached by the Venezuelan commission adverse to the claims of Great Britain and establishing the one set up by the South American republic. On the report of this commission the United States will be constrained to act. It is now too late to abandon the position which was taken by the government at the time this committee was apnointed.

England is not willing to commit herself to a cause which is wholly without justification, and realizing that her po sition is a false one, she is, no doubt, ready to make the proper amends. That Sir Julian Pauncefote is on his way to this country for the purpose of communicating, in a diplomatic form, the acquiescence of his government in the finding of the commission can hardly be doubted in the light of recent disclosures.

A Russian Prince.

Russia is making a thorough study of our American railway system. To this end she has delegated Prince Michael Hill-Koff, one of the most distinguished men of the empire as a special ambassador to the United States.

The prince arrived in this country during the latter part of September. Although he was greeted with none of the pomp and ceremony bestowed upon the Chinese vicerov a few weeks ago, his coming to this country is a matter of much greater significance than the visit of Li Hung Chang.

The prince, aside from being a shrewd government official, exercises direct supervision over the entire railway system of the Russian empire. This, of course. includes the great Siberian line, which is now in process of construction and which, penetrating far into the north of Asia, will be, when completed, one of the longest lines on the globe. Through the veins of the Russian am assador courses the richest blood of the empire. His lineage is even more remote than that of the reigning czar and next to the royal household, of which Nicholas is the present head, his family is recognized as the noblest in the

But there is still another consideration which will plead even more forcibly with Americans than any fact which has yet been mentioned in connection. with Prince Michael's visit to this country. Thirty-five years ago, when a roving young adventurer, the prince left home in disguise and came to the United States. Some misunderstanding with his father was the cause of this voluntary exile. Giving up a splendid inheritance he embarked for New York, accompanied by his young wife, who had linked her fortunes to his only a few months before. Under the name of John Magill the young prince found employment in the machine works of a Philadelphia Quaker. He resided in that city for three or four years, earning the small pittance of $1 a day. After leaving Philadelphia he went to South America, where he found employment banks of the River Platte. With the practical experience which he thus derived from his employment the young prince returned to Russia. In the course of a few years he had mounted the ladone of the most conspicuous men of the empire. After a lapse of thirty-five years the prince returns to America with a commission from the czar. To visit the scenes of his early life in America has, no doubt, been a source of keen delight to the prince, and one which has served to revive in his heart the romantic dreams of his youth.

There is much in the life of Prince Micheal which strongly appeals to emulation and the young American will find it to his advantage to study the example of this noble Russian.

Professor Arendt, of Germany, repeats his declaration that the road to an international agreement is through independent action by the United States.

It is suspected that if our great vessel, the Bancroft, had not been compelled to stop at Smyrna to take on a scuttle of coal and a jug of cider the Dardanelles would have been re-echoing to the exultant shouts of war by this time.

STATE POLITICAL GOSSIP.

The Albany Herald says it is creditable to both gentlemen that the series of joint debates begun in Albany on the 9th instant by Judge J. M. Griggs and Hon. John A. Sibley, democratic and populist candidates, respectively, for congress, has been car-ried to within a few days of its conclusion without any mud-slinging or resort to unparliamentary or offensive personal references. Only four more of the series of ten joint debates agreed upon now remain. and, instead of abusing each other and en-gendering hard feeling one toward the other, the two candidates are said to be other, the two candidates are said to be getting to be the best of personal friends. Each rasps and ridicules the other and the party he represents when they go before the people in joint debate, but there are no mean personal attacks made nor blows dealt below the belt, and when the scrap is over "Jim" and "John" are the most congenial companions, riding from place to place together and even occupying the same room. the same room.

The Southeast Georgian says: "In this congressional district Governor Atkinson received a large majority of the votes cast, and it is safe to presume that Mr. Brantley will get even a larger vote than Mr. Atkinson. Especially is this true of Camden county. Mr. Brantley will get almost the entire white vote of the county."

the Pickens Herald says further that if the truth of Colonel Farrow's candidacy was revealed it would show that he was only running to take votes away from Colonel Tate in the faint hope of giving Mr. Winn a chance to be elected, and The Herald sums the matter up as follows:
"A vote for Farrow is equivalent to a vote for Winn. The republicans say they are only running a man to keep up organization. Can't they keep organization by voting for McKinley? This is all a sham, for anyone can see that the most that they can hope for is to take a few votes off of Mr. Tate and maybe help Winn a little. The republicans are too wise to be fooled by any such tacties and Carter Tate will carry Pickens county. Put that down in your hat and look at it on the night of the 3d of November."

THE PASSING THRONG.

The enthusiasm in the west for all things republican, as told in the goldbug papers, is explained in large measure by an incident which Dave Hall tells.

He is just home from a trip to the doubtful middle states, and being a railroad man and a Bryan man, too, he was on the lookout for expressions of sentiment everywhere. Mr. Hall says: "I was in Indianapolis one day when General Harrison came back from a speaking tour. I saw came back from a speaking tour. I saw the people going toward the depot and I drifted along with them. As the train came in I stood off a little distance and watched. Mr. Frank G. Carpenter, the journalistic cosmopolite, is in Atlanta for a few days. He has recently returned from a trip through the gold and silver mining country of the west and northwest and he has been contributing some exceedingly in-teresting articles on mining to a number of papers throughout the country. Just before the war between Japan and China broke out Mr. Carpenter made a trip around the world and he spent a long time in China and Corea. He collected a great fund of information and many pic-tures. When the war broke out Mr. Carpenter was the best equipped man in the United States to write entertainingly and instructively on the countries which were involved. He has done all kinds of newspaper work, has been everywhere and seen everything and makes a handsome income from his work. He is down here looking up two or three subjects in which he is nterested, but they are not political. Speaking of the millionaire miners west Mr. Carpenter said that he had met a great many of them, but he would not change his work for their vast wealth. He believes that the wold production will increase so rapidly that the great finan-ciers will soon find that they cannot corner it, "There is remarkable activity all over the world in gold mining now," said he. "The United States will go on turning out more and more every year. Australia and south Africa are increasing their output, too. South Africa has untold millions of but the trouble is it costs so much to get it out. But once it is out it is in circu tion, and is here to stay, no matter wh it may have cost to mine it," he said. "I have spent some time watching the placer miners in different parts of the west. Placer mining was the chief source of gold production in the days of 1849. It is still carried on, but the output is much less than in the past. The chief placer mines of today are in Siberia, where the earth has sometimes to be dug up in a frozen state and melted before the gold can be extracted. This is the case in some parts of the Yukon river mines. The fact that there is a gold placer is an evidence that there is gold-bearing rock near by, that there is gold-bearing rock hear by, and miners pretend to tell from the character of the gold of the placer as to the nearness of the gold-bearing rock from which it comes. If the gold dust is very fine it is supposed to have been carried a long distance. If coarse it is thought that the lead is not far off. Some of the first place of Collifornia was of rold reacher. mining of California was of gold scales, which measured less than 3-18 of an inch in length and one millimeter in diameter.

"Placer miners usually find their biggest nuggets in streams where the bowlders are large. Where the streams are fine gravel the gold is generally small and scaly. The biggest nugget ever discovered in this country was taken out of a mine at Carson Hill, in Calaveras county, California. It weighed 195 pounds and was worth more than $43,000. A number of other large nugthan $43,000. A number of other large nuggets were found in this same region, ranging in value from $1,000 upward. In 1855 a nugget of gold was discovered in Sierra county, California, worth $10,000, and in 1850 a mass of quartz and gold was picked up in Tuolumne county which was worth $30,000. Outside of California some of the biggest lumps of gold discovered in the United States have come from the south. North Carolina has produced three nuggets ranging in size from thirteen and a half pounds. ing in size from thirteen and a half pounds to thirty-seven pounds, and in Georgia a number of big nuggets have been discovered, the largest of which weighed 737 penny

ELBERT SENDS A LARGE DELEGA TION TO WORK FOR HER SON.

Large Meeting at Elberton Indorses Well-Known Attorney—Resolu-tions Adopted by Rising Vote.

Elbert county sent over a large and strong delegation to work for Colonel John Shannon for the supreme court. The Elbert men went to work, too, even before they registered, and in an hour had been through the throng. They are a fine set of hustlers and they are going to make everybody know this is a race sure enough. They presented the claims of their fellow citizen in the strongest terms, and last night they said that the prospect was very bright.

Colonel Shannon was indorsed yesterday by his county. A large and enthusiastic meeting assembled at the courthouse. Speeches were made and by a rising vote the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, By a vote of the people, the constitution of Georgia has been so amended as to increase the number of supreme court judges from three to six, and "Whereas, The three additional judges are to be elected by the people on the 16th day of December next, and realizing the great necessity of having upright, pure and learned men to fill these important offices, and believing it the duty of every loyal citizen to sereve his state and his county in wnatever capacity he is called upon, be it, therefore,

COMMITTEE POSTPONES ACTION. Lawyers Decide To Defer the Visit to Judge Hopkins for a Few Days.

The special committee of lawyers appointed by the Atlanta Bar Association to confer with Judge John L. Hopkins in regard to his race for the bench of the supreme court, did not call upon him yesterday afternoon as had been announced by Chairman Hammond. Several members of the committee had engagements which detained them and no meeting was held. The committee will probably take action Wednesday and at that time will officially inform Judge Hopkins of the indorsement given him by the

How Will the Nominations Be Made? There are many interesting suggestions as to how an expression of the people should be secured on their choice for judges for the supreme court, and it is the general idea that the primary system in some shape should prevail. Some people suggest a straight pr mary with the total vote of each candidate counting in his favor and the three highest to be the nominees—or rather the four highest, for Judge Lump-kin is a candidate to succeed himself, and although it is generally acknowledged that he will have no opposition, still it would be necessary for him to submit his claims in the same way that the others do.

This plan is, however, objected to by the friends of some of the candidates who see in it too much power for the cities. These think that a convention shou held. On this line a combination of two ideas is the suggestion thrown out by one of the most prominent lawyers in Georgia of the most prominent lawyers in Georgia on yesterday.

"It seems," said he, "that this would be the best way to get an expression of the people, and such an expression as would not be liable to criticism of any kind. Let there be held a convention with the representation as is usual; that is, with double the number of delegates as there are members of the house of representatives. Let these delegates be selected by primaries, and in these primaries let the voters express on their ballots their preference for the judgeships. Make it imperative that each must express his choice not for one but for judgeships. Make it imperative that each must express his choice not for one but for all three. Each delegation would, in this way, be bound up and there would be no chance for the trading which would invariably follow if certain delegates come pledged to only one man and ready to make any sort of deal in his interest.

"This would be a straight declaration from the people as to their choice, and would, I believe, insure the selection of three of the best men. It would certainly cl.minate all possibility of criticism or juggling in the convention. It seems open to no objections at all. Each voter should be required to cast his ballot for three men or his vote should not be counted. I believe that such a plan would be found to work well."

this time, after a correspondence extending from the 7th of November, 1895, until the 8th of June, 1896, ever seven months, and after the persistent refusal and fallure of the tax collector to pay over the amounts, it became quite plain that if we ever secured a statement of the amounts due and withheld by the tax collector, we would have to make it ourselves, and on July 1st the board passed a resolution directing the finance committee to employ Mr. Waldo to make an investigation of the office.

Mr. Waldo has been, since that time, engaged in the examination of the office.

"Mr. Waldo has been, since that time, engaged in the examination of the office, and Mr. Stewart has been thoroughly familiar with its daily progress. On Thursday, October 9th, he stated to me that his report was almost completed and that it showed that Mr. Stewart was due the state and county over $50,000.

"This information staggered me and I immrediately communicated with the other members of the board and an informal meeting and discussion of the matter was had on that day.

"In the meantime I sent for Mr. Stewart and told him of the result of the investigation, and he informed me that he had all along known of the amount and that he had the money in the Merchants' bank, and he further stated that it had been his custom to carry a large balance in the bank, as Mr. Porter was on his bond and required it of him. I advised him to pay over the amount due the treasurer at once and he replied that he thought such a step would embarrass the bank and asked for four or six weeks' time in which to draw it out. My opinion was then and is now that the eleven months' notice given was sufficient, and the following Monday, when Mr. Waldo's report had been completed, Commissioner Brown and I requested Chairman Collier to call a special meeting of the board to receive and act on it.

"The report, which has been referred to by the press as one reflecting great credit on the tax collector, showed a balance due by him of $43,320.51 to the state and $7,423.50 to the county. It showed amounts that had been withheld since 1892 and that several thousand dollars had been withheld since 1892 and that several thousand collectors and act on it.

to the county. It showed amounts that had been withheld since 1892 and that several thousand dollars had been in the hands of the tax collector, unaccounted for, for more than two years. It showed that in December last he collected from railroads their county tax amounting to $14,600.48, and that he did not pay over one gent of it until the 5th of August 1895 electrometric months. and that he did not pay over one sent of it until the 8th of August, 1886, eight months after it had been collected, and then he paid over only $7,500 of the amount. On September 30th he paid over $2,500 more of it and the balance of this railroad tax was not paid until after the matter was taken in hand by the commissioners. It showed many other items that were unlawful and directly in violation of the law above quoted. This report is how on file in the office of the commissioners and any taxpayer has the right to examine it if he chooses.

"At the meeting the report was ordered filed. Mr. Stewart was present and stated filed. Mr. Stewart was present and stated that he had, since the completion of the report, paid the county in full and $17,000 to the state, and he asked that time be given him to pay up the balance of $28,000 still due the state.

"Commissioner Brown called attention to section 4 of the county attorney's opinion, above quoted, and suggested that the com-missioners had no authority to grant any time, as such action might release Mr. Stewart's bondsmen. He then offered a resolution that Clerk Kontz be instructed to transmit a copy of the report to the gov-ernor and that Mr. Stewart be requested to accompany him, so that he might have an opportunity to make any explanation or excuse he saw fit.

"I admit that the amount was only $50,744.01, but I thought, and still think, that it was our sworn duty to acquaint the govern-or with the state of affairs and I voted for the resolution. The other commissioners present voted against it and it was lost. The meeting then adjourned and since that time the commissioners have taken no of-ficial action and have had no connection with it. "On the next morning Comptroller General Wright wrote to Clerk Kontz requesting copy of the report and it was furnished compelling the tax collector to pay over to the state treasurer the balance of $28,000 at that time due, such action was not taken

"I contend that the tax collector, at no time, had any right to deposit any amount with the Merchants' bank or with any other bank. The law says that he shall pay over the money that he collects to the treasurers of the state and county, re-spectively, and had he done this, the present state of affairs would not exist.
"I have been charged with being aggressive in forcing the payment of the county's noney, and to that charge I plead guilty. I have always been aggressive in looking after the interests of the county and I have no apology to offer to any man for such conduct and I promise that I will, in the future, be just as aggressive when occasion demands it.

"In protecting the county's interests it has often been necessary for me to take active and aggressive positions, and I fully realize that I have hereby incurred the displeasure of those who are interested, and they will be glad to have me censured and criticised, but I am one who believes that 'a public office is a public trust' and not a private snap, and I pledge myself to continue to do what I conceived to be my duty without fear, favor or affection and the displeasure of those whom it has been continue to do what I conceived to be my duty without fear, favor or affection and the displeasure of those whom it has been my duty to expose in their misconduct will not cause me to suffer with insomnia. "In conclusion, I beg to say that personally I have always entertained the highest regard for the present tax collector, Mr. A. P. Stewart, and, on his account, I deeply regret the recent disclosure as to the condition of his office.

"It is unnecessary for me to express my regret that the Merchants' bank should have falled. Among its officers and directors I have many warm friends and close relatives, whose interests deeply concern me, and, in addition to this, I feel, as any good citizen should, an interest in any of Atlanta's institutions, but I must protest against being unjustly placed in the attitude of acting with undue haste in this matter and I wish to emphasize the distinction between merely withdrawing from a bank a legitimate deposit and requiring a public official to pay over to the treasurer public funds which he had been for a long time unlawfully withholding.

"SOWING THE WIND." A Very Interesting Play Which Will

The Grand opera house will doubtless have big audiences Wednesday and Thursday when Sydney Grundy's noted play, "Sowing the Wind," will be produced. It will be one of the best and most notable will be one of the best and most notable theatrical events of the season. "Sowing the Wind" is one of the few really great plays contributed to the stage by any modern dramatist. It is high-class drama of the intensely emotional sort, abounding in striking characters, strong situations and pungent dialogue, and admitting of elaborate embellishments in scenery and costumes. It's theme is a daring one, but it is handled with such delicacy that it may be safely and properly witnessed by a child. To older minds, however, it affords many suggestions that may be considered with moral profit. Some of the scenes are as fine examples of passionate declamation as

A switch engine, while switching cars in the Central railroad yards yesterday morn-ing, ran into two coal cars and several cars and caused quite a disastrous wreck. of the bumpers torn from its fastening The box cars were tipped over by the shock of the collision and were propped up in order that they might not fail. The debris appeared as if a great week nad occurred and quite a crowd collected to view the broken cars. The debris was cleared away during the morning.

Louisville A. P. A.'S Make Charges Against Supreme President.

SAY HE SOLD OUT TO HANN!

Cite the Incidents of His Louisville Irip Last Week.

Red-Hot Charges Preferred Against Him on Which They Hope To Have Him Removed.

An effort is being made to remove John W. Echols, supreme president of the A. P.

Supreme President Echols lives in Atlanta, but he is not here now, and has not been in the city for several weeks. He is absent on bus.ness of the order, and will probably not return for several days.

The red hot charge has been made against President Echols that he has sold out to Mark Hanna, and that he has betrayed the order. These charges come from within the order, and an effort will be made to have the president tried on them and removed from office.

President Echols was thought to be for Mr. Bryan in his individual capacity, and leading members of his order in Atlanta said yesterday when questioned about it that he could not be, as reported, working in the interest of McKinley.

Still, the direct and specific charge has been made by the A. P. A.'s of Louisville that he is working under the direction of Hanna.

The regularly prepared charges declare that Echols went to Louisville on October 10th, acting under the direction of Mark Hanna, and tried to turn over the order in that city to McKinley. He is charged with having circulated stories against Bryan, one to the effect that Bryan was in con-stant communication with Satolli and Archbishop Corrigan and Cardinal Gibbons and that he had sold out to them.

It is charged in the regularly prepared accusation against Echols that soon after arriving in Louisville he received a telegram from Mark Hanna saying: "Do nothing until you see Sany." ng until you see Sapp." Sapp is state president of the A. P. A., and a republican leader in Louisville. A committee of A. P. A.'s who are against McKinley called on Echols and denounced him as a slanderer of Bryan, as having betrayed the order and sold out to Hanna, According to the written charges, he was so confused by this exposure that he could scarcely be kept in the room, and begged off, saying he had a terrible head-ache. Later, they charged, he received a local republican complittee, and was closeted with it until 2 o'clock in the morning An effort was made yesterday afternoon to find out from some of his friends when Mr. Echols would be in Atlanta, Mr. J. M. Crawford, who is in regular communication with Mr. Echols, said that he had heard from the president only a few days before said Mr. Crawford, at his place on Peach tree street yesterday afternoon, "and I do not believe there is a word of truth in it The president of the order is forbidden from any such participation in politics. This report must have emanated from some of President Echols's enemies "I happen to know that Mr. Echols is not for McKinley. You will remember that during the A. P. A. convention in Washinton early last summer, a delegation of A. P. A.'s was sent to Canton, O., to consult with Mr. McKinley. That was previous to the nomination, and the order wantthem. You can imagine, then, what the attitude of our order has been toward him since then. This talk about his having sold out is all rot He is out of the city, traveling in the interest of the order, almost the entire time. I do not know when he will be in the city." The position to which Mr. Echols wa elected last May is a good one, and pays a salary of several thousand dollars a year. If such a thing as dismissal from the place should happen to Mr. Echols, it would de-prive him of a plum which he prizes very highly, and which is well worth striving

The Louisville committee, it is understood, will press the'r charges against Echols and do their utmost to have him removed. The charges have been prepared by a committee headed by D. T. Smith. A synopsis of the charges preferred agains President Echols is given by Smith as

An interesting suit is now pending in the An interesting sult is now pending in the superior court before Judge Lumpkin, which was reached yesterday morning and will be resumed this morning. The case is brought by H. W. Camp and others against the Chattahoochee Land Company, alleging that the officers of the company committed fraud in not informing the stockholders that the land, which was made the hasis of the organization was heavily. the basis of the organization, was heavily mortgaged.

In the first division of the city court number of witnesses testified in the Mean damage suit against the Atlanta Consoli-dated Street Car Company. This case, which is of more than usual interest on account of the amount claimed and the circumstances under which the damages are alleged to have been received, will prob-ably be concluded today. The case on trial in the second division attempted to turn the order over to the local republican machine and McKinley. Among the many other stores told by Echols calculated to damage Bryan in the estimation of the order was one that Bryan was in constant and close communication with Satolli, Archbishop Ireland and Cardinal Gibbons, that he had sold out to them and would be under their control if elected. Echols also disclosed the fact that he was one of the instigators and disseminators of the so-called Linton circulars of which it is said seven millions have been sent over the country.

"Soon after arriving here President Echols received a telegram from Mark Hanna saying: "Do nothing until you see Mr. Bapp. This Mr. Sapp is the state president of the A. P. A.'s and a republican political leader here. The committee of Bryan A. P. A.'s called upon Echols at the Galt house parlors and there denounced him as a slanderer of Mr. Bryan and accused him of having sold out to Mark Hanna, and of attempting to betray the order. Echols was so confused by the exposures and condemnation he received that he could with difficulty be kept in the room till the end of the ordeal and finally begged off and retired to his room under the plea of severe indisposition. Yet in his private room he afterwards received a local republican committee and remained in consultation with it until 2 o'clock in the morning.

"Echols let out that he would just before the election spread among the order and its sympath zers throughout the land further reports of statements made by Bryan offensive to that order."

THE SUPREME COURT

Decisions Rendered Monday, October

REPORTED FOR THIS PAPER

By Peeples and Stevens, Reporters of the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia.

Cumming v. The State. Before Judge Hart. Wilkinson superior court.

Simmons, C. J.—I. When two or more persons are jointly tried for a felony, and each insists upon having the full number of peremptory challenges to jurors to which he would be entitled if tried alone, it is the duty of the judge, upon the request of the accused, made when the first juror is put upon them, to determine at once the total number of such challenges which will be allowed to the accused.

2. While provocation by words, threats, menaces or contemptuous gestures shall in no case be sufficient to reduce a homicide below the grade of murder, when the killing is done not because or on account of any fear in the mind of the slayer, but solely for the purpose of resenting the provocation, it is nevertheless true that threats, accompanied by menaces, thought the latter do not amount to an actual assault, may, in some instances, be sufficient to arouse the fears of a reasonable man that his life is in danger, or that a felony is about to be perpetrated upon him. In all such cases the motive with which the slayer acted is for determination by the jury; and if it be claimed that the homicide was committed, not in a spirit of revenge, but under the fears of a reasonable man, it is for the jury, and not for the judge, to decide whether or not the circumstances were sufficient to justify the existence of such fears.

(a) In the present case it was error to change: "A fear growing out of and only supported by mere words, threats, menaces or contemptuous gestures, is not the fear which would justify or excuse another for committing a homicide."

3. The general charge, except as to the error above pointed out, was a fair submission of the law upon the issues involved, the requests to charge were sufficient.

3. The general charge, except as to the error above pointed out, was a fair submission of the law upon the issues involved, the requests to charge were sufficiently covered and there was no error in rejecting evidence.

Tom Delk v. The State. Before Judge Beck. Pike superior court.

Atkinson, J.—I. A person being tried for the commission of a crime receives "the privilege and benefit of counsel" within the meaning of the fifth paragraph of the "Bill of Rights" (code, section 497) whenever, being himself unvilling or unable from poverty or other cause to procure counsel of his own choice, the court assigns to his defense counsel from members of the legal profession who may be present at the time of the trial and who undertake in good faith to represent the interests of the accused. In such case it will, in the absence of satisfactory proof to the contrary, be presumed that the counsel so assigned are of sufficient experience and possess, the requisite legal attainment to satisfy the constitutional requirement above cited.

2. If, after conviction, other counsel be reployed by the accused, who move for a new trial, claiming that the counsel actually assigned by the court to represent him at the trial were so inexperienced and incompetent as that their appearance upon his behalf did not amount to giving the accused the benefit of counsel, the question thus sought to be raised is not presented where neither the motion is made upon that ground nor the evidence submitted in support of it authenticated in such manner as to authorize its consideration by this court.

3. There was no error in refusing to continue a murder case in order to allow the accused to obtain evidence tending to show that a person jointly ind o'ted with him had confessed to the perpetration of the homicide.

4. This court will not reserve the judget. Tom Delk v. The State. Before Judge a continuance upon grounds or for reasons not made or stated when the motion for a continuance was presented. Accordingly, where counsel for the accused did not inform the judge that they needed or desired additional time to prepare the defense, or ask for a continuance of the case or a postponement of the trial in order that they might have further time for this purpose, this court cannot assume that such time was needed, or hold that the trial judge should have allowed it without being so requested.

such time was needed, or hold that the trial judge should have allowed it without being so requested.

5. The evidence fully warranted the verdict; it does not appear that the second was denied or deprived of any of his legal or constitutional rights; and there is nothing which would warrant th's court in reversing the judgment of the court below.

Taylor Delk v. The State. Before Judge Beck. Pike superior court.

Simmons, C. J.—1. The provision in the "bill of rights" declaring that "every person charged with an offense against the laws of this state shall have the privilege and benefit of counsel" confers upon every person indicted for crime a most valuable and important constitutional right, and entitles him to be defended by counsel of his own selection whenever he is able and willing to employ an attorney and uses reasonable dil gence to obtain his services. No person meeting these requirements should be deprived of his right to be represented by counsel chosen by himself, or forced to trial with the assistance only of counsel chosen appointed for him by the court.

McElhannon v, the State. Before Judge Hutchins. Clarke superior court.

Lumpkin, J.—On the trial of an indictment for mutitating and destroying the books of a corporation with intent to defraud and injure it, persons related to its stockholders within the proh. bitted degree are not competent to serve as jurors; and in determining whether or not a new trial should be granted to the accused because of relationship between jurors and stockholders, the lact that the former at any time of the trial were ignorant of any relationship between themselves and some of the stockholders is immaterial.

2. The charge being as above stated, and one of the alleged motives for the perpetration of the offense being a purpose on the part of the accused to conceal a misappropriation by him of money belonging to the corporation, it was competent to show in behalf of the state that shortly before the disappearance of the books the accused had been seen gaming; but when the witness offered for this purpose declined, on cross-examination, to answer certain pertinent questions, on the ground that so doing would criminate himself, the whole of his testimony on this subject should have been, ruled out.

3. On such trial, evidence which, in connection with the statement of the accused, tended to show that there had been no maappropriation of the funds of the corporation, or that its losses were due to such mismanagement, or any other evidence tending to show mismanagement on his part of the affairs of the corporation, or that its losses were due to such mismanagement, or any other evidence tending to show a motive on his part for destroying the books, was admissible in behalf of the accused.

5. It was competent, on such trial, for the state, brokeeper of the corporation, had given a bond for the faithful discharge of the state to prove that the accused, who was the bookkeeper of the corporation, had given a bond for the faithful discharge of the election of the c nis duties as such.

An intent to steal is a substantive element in the commission of the offense of robbery, and a failure of the trial judge so to instruct a jury tryjng such a case is cause for a new trial; especially is this true in a case in which one contention of the accused was the absence of such intent.

3. Where, upon the trial of such a case, the person accused makes a statement giving his version of the transact.on in question and denying his guilt, a charge in these words: "In determining the various questions in the case, you must do that by looking to the testimony of the witnesses that have been sworn in the case," was not, under the decision of this court in Vaughn v. The State, 88 Ga. 731, erroneous; but it would not have been inarpropriate to have added some such language as the following: "and the statement of the accused giving to the latter such force as you think it ent.led to receive;" and this seemingly would be the better practice.

Lumpkin, J.-l. While, in charging a jury trying a criminal case as to the sources from which they should arrive at the truth the judge may appropriately refer both to the sworn evidence and the statement of the accused, yet where the statement suggests no theory favorable to 'he accused which is in conflict with or explanatory of the evidence, an instruction that, in determining the guilt or innocence of the accused, the jury are to look to the evidence submitted to them, is manifestly no cause for a new trial.

2. The charge of the court upon the subject of reasonable doubt and as to where the burden of proof rested, was sufficiently full and accurate; no error of law was committed; and the verdict being amply supported, if not demanded, by the evidence, the denial of a new trial was proper. (a) The charge complained of in the present case did not aptly express she law above announced.

2. Upon the assumption that the goods found in the possession of the accused were actually taken from the house which had been broken, and that it was therefore incumbent upon him to satisfactorily explain the manner in which he obtained them, the evidence introduced in his behalf was seemingly sufficient to show that his possession was honestly acquired.

by the statements in the judge's certificate.

2. Pursuing this course in the present case at the October term, 1895, this court correctly arrived at the facts; and therefore the application for a rehearing, based upon the ground that it failed to do so, is without merit. Were it otherwise, such application could not be entertained after the expiration of that term.

3. The "extraordinary" motion for a new trial, based upon alleged newly discovered evidence, when considered in connection with the counter showing presented by the state, affords no legal cause for setting aside the original judgment. Application for a hearing in the original case denied.

McDaniel v. the State. Before Judge Gober. Newton superior court. Simmons, C. J.—I. In a trial for murder, threats by the accused against the deceased, though made a considerable period before the homicide, are admissible in evidence for the state as tending to show malice on the part of the accused, and the mere comission of the trial judge to charse the jury "as to what weight they should give to the threats," or "as to how the jury should regard them in their deliberations," is not cause for a new trial, the more especially when the accused was convicted of voluntary manslaughter only, the verdict thus negativing any conclusion that the killing was done in malice.

2. Where a father and son were indicted for murder, and upon the trial of the latter alone, he declared in his statement to the jury, and the father also testified as a witness in the son's behalf, that the mortal blow was inflicted by the father, it is not cause for the killing in his own defense, or under the fears of a reasonable man that his own life was in danger, he was justified in so doing. This is so, although the evidence for the state tended to show that the mortal blow was inflicted by the son. Notwithstanding this, he cannot complain that the court failed to submit to the jury a theory which was negatived not only by his own statement, but by the evidence which he introduced and asked the jury to accept as the real truth of the case.

3. There was sufficient evidence to warrant the verdict which the jury rendered, and no error was committed at the trial. Judgment affirmed.

Lumpkin, J.-l. Where two persons interested in a crop raised by one of them upon land of the other, or of the latter's wife, differ as to their respective shares in the crop, and the tenant or cropper by whom it was raised peacefully enters upon the land for the purpose of gathering and removing that portion of the crop which he in good faith claims as his own, and the landlord, to prevent this being done, deilberately kills the tenant or cropper, or his assistant, the killing is murder. Even if the tenant, or cropper, was mistaken as to the amount of his interest in the crop and intended to remove more than his lawful share, this alone would not, in legal contemplation, be sufficient to justify the excitement of passion on the part of the slayer, so as to reduce the homicide to voluntary manslaughter.

2. In view of the undisputed facts of this case, which fully warranted a conviction of murder, the requests to charge were properly refused, and the charges complained of were substantially correct. Judgment affirmed.

Atkinson, J.—1. A person under the age of ten years is ificapable of committing any criminal offense. Penal code, section 34. A person between the ages of ten and fourteen years cannot be lawfully convicted of a crime or misdemeanor, unless it appears from the evidence that he was capax doll, and the burden of proving that he was so rests upon the state. Penal code, section 33, and cases cited.

2. It being doubtful, under the evidence introduced in the present case, whether the accused was above the age of ten at the time the alleged offense was committed, and certain that he had not then attained the age of fourteen, and the evidence not showing that he knew "the distinction between good and evil." the verdict of guilty was contrary to law, and there should be a new trial.

3. The newly discovered evidence will, at the next hearing, most probably throw further light upon the question of the age of the accused. Judgment reversed.

Buchanan v. the State. Before Judge Milner. Catoosa superior court.

Atkinson, J.—I. If. on the trial of an inoletment for assault and battery, it is manifest that the defense reled upon was the use by the person assaulted to the accused of opprobrious words or abusive language, immediately before the beating occurred, it is the duty of the court, even without a request so to do, to give in charge to the jury the provisions of section 103 of the Penal Code and unless the record shows to the contrary, it will be presumed that this was done.

2. It will not, however, be presumed that the proper instructions upon this subject were not given to the jury, merely because the trial judge refused to give in charge a request which, though probably intended to invoke in behalf of the accused the law embraced in the above cited section, was not itself couched in apt or appropriate terms.

3. There was no error in such trial in refusing to charge as follows: "The law allows one to strike another for the use of Buchanan v. the State. Before Judge Milopprobrious words and obscene language to him, leaving it to the jury to judge whether the beating is in excuse of the provocation used or given; that is, whether the beating is excessive is for determinat on by the jury." A failure by the court "to give such instruction" as that embraced in the language above quoted "anywhere in the general charge," was not erroneous, and does not raise any presumption of a failure to give more instructions in this failure to give proper instructions in this connection.

4. It is bad practice to allow a member of a jury who have retired to consider of their verdict in a criminal case, to be withdrawn for the purpose of aiding the solicitor general in striking a jury in another criminal case in which the juror was the prosecutor; but where this was done within the knowledge of counsel for the accused in the case first mentioned, and he did not then and there move for a mistrial or otherwise seek a correction of the irregularity, he cannot, after taking the chances of an acquittal, complain of such irregularity. The question whether or not the withdrawal of the juror would, under the circumstances of the present case, have been cause for a mistrial, is not presented for determination.

Atkinson, J.—A person indicted for the commission of a felony, other than one of those enumerated in section 1938 of the penal code, is entitled upon his trial to have the judge instruct the jury that it is within their power. In the event of conviction, to recommend that the accused be sentenced as for a misdemeanor. Such recommendation, while not conclusive upon the judge, is nevertheless a persuasive inrecommendation, while not conclusive upon the judge, is nevertheless a persuasive influence by which the jury may lawfully and appropriately appeal to his discretion: and the court should, whether so requested or not, inform them as to the provisions of the above cited section of the code on this subject. he introduced the ordinance asking for the necessary legislaticn.

The legislature will be asked to incorporate all of the territory lying between the city limits and Pledmont park within the police district of Atlanta. The purpose of the proposed legislation is to enable the police depayment to make arrests and protect the people residing in the territory mentioned. The officers cannot work outskie of the city limits and it is proposed to take in the section for police purposes only.

City Electrician Harper sent in a com-munication reciting the facts of a dispute between the board of electrical control and the police department. The police department alarm system wires are strung on certain poles which have been condemned certain poles which have been condemned and ordered removed by the council. It seems that the board of electrical control insists that the police department ought to remove its wire so that the poles can be taken up. The police department officials are charged by Mr. Harper with ignoring the authority of the board of electrical control and the electrician says that the police board has ignored and treated the communications of his department with with gloves off, asking if that department is to be exempt from obeying the city laws. He says:

"About three years ago the Southern Bell Telephone Company placed their wires in the central portion of the city underground, abandoning several main lines of poles and leaving them to be used only by city wires. Shortly afterwards they requested the board of electrical control to have the city wires removed so they might get their potes. At this time there were about 1,000 poles, valued at $1,000.

"In January, 1895, the city electrician received a letter from the telephone company again asking that the city wires be taken off their poles. The board of electrical control directed the city electrician to serve notice on the fire and police departments to move their poles. The fire department promptly obeyed, but the police department gave the matter no attention whatever. Several not'ces and personal interviews with the chairman of the police commissioners met with like results.

"At a meeting of the board on or about July 10, 1896. I was again instructed to notify the police department to move their wires so that these abandoned poles could be removed from the streets. Like all former cases, the notice and the authority of the board of electrical control has been treated with contempt by the police department.

"I am, therefore, instructed by the board to make this communication to your honorable body, and respectfully request that you define that authority in this matter and whether or not the police department is exempt from obeving laws as other departments are required to do. Also, if it is the sense of your honorable body that the city take possession of the private property of this company without extending to them some redress."

The undertakers of the city say that funeral services at private residences are often disturbed by the noise of vehicles and other noises. They asked the council to adopt an ordinance authorizing the police department to station officers on each side of the house in which a funeral service is being held for the purpose of diverting traffic until such service is concluded.

Councilmen Miller and Maddox and Alderman Dimmock and others stated that the ordinance would fill a long-felt want. Mr. Inman said that it might not be a the ordinance would fill a long-felt want.

from most of the towns and cities in Geor- the kindergarten movement in Atlanta gia, brilliant women who, through love of their country and through the honor they bear to their dead heroes, are successfully seeking to perpetuate the history of those brave deeds.

The address of welcome on the occasion will be made by Miss E. F. Andrews, a writer of note in Georgia, and one whose war poems, written during that time of struggle when she was quite a young girl, created a great deal of enthusiasm. From Atlanta there are a number of brilliant women in attendance, among them Mrs. Helen Plane, president of the society for the state of Georgia, and Mrs. J. K. Ottley, secretary.

The meetings will occur in the annex of the Mulberry Street church.

Last night one of the most brilliant auciences that ever assembled in the Grand witnessed the concert given under the auspices of the young ladies of the aux-llary for the benefit of the children's ward. The boxes were occupied by the ladies invited to be patronesses and the young ladies' committee, many of whom word elegant opera toilets.

The programme from beginning to end was replete with brilliant and artistic selections, every one of which was fully appreciated by the audience-enthusiastic in their applause. Wurm's orchestra was in excellent harmony and rendered two mag-nificent selections, the first an overture from Verdi's "Uabucco;" the second a march from "Tannhauser." Monsier Porte, in his solo, "Fantasie Caprice," vieux temps, fully sustained his reputation as a celebrated violinist. It was his first appearance before an Atlanta audience, and his hearty reception and the applause with which he met demon-strated the fact that his artistic work was fully appreciated.

Mr. F. Wedemeyer, in his clarinet solo, met with the enthusiastic praise and ap-plause that always greet his successful efforts. He is among the best and most popular musicians in the city. Signor and Mme. Pasquali, who arranged the programme and carried it to such a satisfactory degree of perfection, were in excellent voice, and, as usual, proved themselves the most capable of artists. Her voice in its volume, its sweetness and tenderness, blended in absolute harmony with his powerful and cultivated tenor in the grand duo from "La Cavalleria Rusticana." In the solo from "Carmen" Mme. Pasquali enacted in her rendition of it all the charm and witchery concentrated in that favored opera. She sang with the expression of the actress and the appreciation of the finished musician. Signor Pasquali's solo, the famous "Swan" song from "Lohengrin," was superb. The "Ave Maria," from "Cavalleria Rusticana," sung by Mme. Pasquii, accompanied by Mr. Wei-senfeld on the organ, Mr. Mayer on the plano and Mr. Porte on the violin, was an unusual musical treat, in which each artist was distinguished.

The "Prison Scene," from "Fauste," by Signor and Mme. Pasquali, in its exquisite finish, was a fitting termination to the very brilliant concert.
Great credit is deserved by the young ladies who have given their interests to the success of the concert for such a worthy object. Although many of them have worked with praiseworthy energy, to Miss worked with praiseworthy energy, to Miss Jennie English may be attributed the great success of the entertainment. She is one of the young women who has the force of character to assume responsibility and understanding before it has reached that point of progress leading to success when everybody is willing to take hold. She can work individually or in harmony with others, and in her management of last night's entertainment deserves universal praise. About the cake were hearts of her home. About the cake were three pieces of dreaden china can-dlabra holding each three pink tapers, while clusters of pink buds were scattered gracefully over the table amid the tempting fruits and bonbons. Each little miss was radiant in her best "blb" and "tucker." There were dark-eyed beauties like verltable pictures in yellow gowns; blue-eyed girls wore blue and pink ribbons with snowy white frocks. Some little dames rustled in dainty silk gowns, while the pretty little hostess was as graceful and airy as a fairy in her ap propriate gown of pure white. The party was from 4 till 6 o'clock, but long after that hour patient nurses were still wait-precious charges after the lovely birthday party. This afternoon at 5 c'clock Miss Mabel Lewis will entertain Miss King and her at-

Wheat Started with a Bull Roar and 3c Higher Than Last Saturday.

CLOSE WAS NOT SO STEADY

Foreign Markets All Quoted Sensational Advances.

ENDED 11-2C HIGHER THAN SATURDAY

Cotton Opened Sharply Higher on Frost Reports-The Stock Market was Firm but Dull.

Chicago, October 19.-In the midst of a scene of wild excitement, such as veteran traders recall in war times. December wheat opened on the Chicago board of trade today anywhere from 781/2c to 791/2c after closing officially Saturday at 75%c. It was an average 3c jump to begin the furor with, and in its startling guddenness and effect, it came like a bomb in the board. Eighty-cent wheat was missed by a quarter of a cent only, the top notch of sensational session being 79%c. But the market was all not upward. It oscillated between Saturday's closing price and the top, reacted to 78%c, then went to 79%c, and flashed all around this point with a Lewildering assortment of changes. The December future broke toward the close, the last official price being 77%c, but that was 11/2c above Saturday's closing.

Before the commotion in the pit began the English cables posted on 'change told the bearish crowd that more wheat was wanted by the United Kingdom. London, Liverpool, Paris and Berlin contributed their quota of bull news and served to tune the excited crowd to the pitch of a 3c rise at the opening. Traders on both sides of the market realized it was a local one, which was shown by the prices remaining firm in the face of heavy selling of long lines by holders to get the profit.

A feature of the day was that everybody was making money. Paying business came to the brokers from Tacoma to New Brunswick. P. D. Armour was a heavy buyer and there was a report that John Cudahy sold big lots of his wheat holdings, but it was not supposed he sold all of his

The boisterous opening of the Minneapolis market, where the opening price was almost 5c above the closing Saturday, was taken as evidence of the strength of the northwestern market. Strong as the demand was locally, wheat could only be got when men were found who were willing to let go and be satisfied with their profits. Fortunes were made in an hour.

President Baker said: "The activity is due to strong foreign markets, Liverpool showing an advance of 6c a bushel. Great Britain wants our wheat, but it is absurd to talk of wheat being shipped to Argen-

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Foreign Markets Sensationally Higher, Chicago Follows Suit.

Chicago, October 19.—The wheat market started in this week with a bull roar and 3c higher than it concluded last Saturday. The session, whilst showing a net gain for the day, was nevertheless not so strong at the close as it was at the opening. This was due entirely to the heavy selling by longs which took place. Liverpool, London, Berlin, Paris and Antwerp all quoted sen-sational advances, and as the foreign con-tingent appears to rule the situation at present, there was nothing for Chicago to do but to follow the direction of the mar-kets mentioned. The export demand was said to be good. New York reporting 75 sent, there was nothing for Chicago to Statistical items of news sold between 79% and 77% c, closing at 77% and 75% and 75% c, closing at 77% closing at 75% and selling at 3c advance, but closing nominally easy with the futures.

considerably higher in price early, with business displaying activity to correspond with the improvement in value. Of course, aside from the strength derived from the wheat market, there was little informa-tion favorable to this grain, the enormous supplies in sight and back in farmers' hands precluding any possibility of a shortage. The receding movement in wheat late in the session prompted like action in corn. May corn opened 30½ to 31c, declined to 29% c, closing at 29½—½c under Saturday. Cash corn was firm and ½c higher early, but closed weak at Saturday's prices.

higher early, but closed weak at Saturday's prices.
Oats quite naturally improved in price, through the encouragement incident to the better wheat and corn markets. Trade was fairly active, the animation being an accompaniment of the strength. The visible supply increased 602,000 bushels. Prices subsequently declined in sympathy with those of wheat and corn. May oats closed 1604 higher than Saturday. Cash oats were firm early, closing easy. Provisions—The market acted up to the standard established by grain. In addition to the favorable influence exerted by what, corn and oats, there was likewise a higher hog market to afford encouragement. Realizing sales produced an easier tone toward

Paine-Murphy Co.'s Grain Letter.
Atlanta, October 19.—The big advance in foreign markets over Sunday has overshadowed every other consideration in the foreign markets over Sunday has overshadowed every other consideration in the wheat market today and resulted in a further advance of 4c per bushel, or an advance in two days of 8c per bushel, opening prices in Liverpool were quoted at an advance in two days of 8c per bushel, conting prices in Liverpool were quoted at an advance of about 4%d, while the close showed from 6 to 8c per bushel, and on futures from 6 to 6%c per bushel, and on futures from 6 to 6%c per bushel. Continental markets showed the same run-away condition, Paris wheat being up from 3 to 8c, Antwerp from 5 to 10 and Berlin 3c per bushel. The trade will have to go back a good period to find such excitement prevailing in the foreign markets as present, and speculators are basing future prices on the action of the markets abroad, as they seem to be the dominating influence in the present phenomenal strength. The speculative trade the entire session has been very broad. Fluctuations were rapid and at time rather erratic, selling has been on quite an extensive scale, a great many holders letting go, feeling that they can replace their wheat at a lower price, while the rapid advafice has undoubtedly curtailed investment buying at these figures. Foreigners were evidently sellers, as was also New York parties. The routine news of the day seems to play a less important part than usually. There was an increase in the American and English visible supply of 2.374,000 and 555,000 bushels. Northwest receipts continue to show some falling off as compared with last year and a week ago, as does also primary arrivals. The San Francisco market was very exclfed, showing an advance of about 10c per cental, and reported that England was buying cargoes regardless of price, although another message states that the advance is the result of the intense excitement that prevails. It may be possible that the bull enthusiasm is carrying prices too high and encouraging too much pyramiding, which might prove disastrous to holders should prices show any material weakness. The net gain for the day was 1½c per bushel, and this, with the advance in wheat opened the corn market from % to 1½c higher. This proved high point, however, and brought out liberal selling, last figures being about ½c below Saturday's close. Receipts were heavy. 60 cars over the estimate, and the visible increased 2,700,000 bushels. These were the bear factors.

Provisions closed easy, after a higher opening in sympathy with grain. Packers were sellers at the advance.

THE STOCK MARKET.

A Bullish Tone Characterized Dealings Yesterday.

New York, October 19.—The stock market was anything but active today, the sales footing up only 153,44* shares, but there was a radical change in the temper or speculation, and a bullish tone characterized the dealings throughout. The upward movement receivea its first impetus from the buoyancy and excitement in the grain markets, which advanced sharply under the influence of a brisk foreign demand. In addition to this the renewed weakness of sterling exchange exercised a favorable influence, as the reduction of a full cent in the posted rate for long sterling and half a cent in demand rate foreshows additional gold imports to this country at an early date. The high rates of interest here practically insure more receipts of gold unless the Bank of England rate is put up this week. There were several reactions in the stock market during the session, owing to the sharp fluctuations in the rates for money, but each d-cline brought in a number of buying orders, which not only ralled the list, but led to a still higher range of quotations than was current before. The rise was equal to \( \frac{1}{2}\) (32\) per cent and was due in great measure to the fact that the shorts took alarm at the continued strength and advance in the other speculative markets. The improvement was greatest in the shares in which the short interest was heavy, such, for instance, as Sugar, the Grangers, Louisville and Nashville. Western Union, Tobacco, Leather preferred and the Southwestern. The market left off firm in tone. Net changes show advances of \( \frac{1}{2}\) to 3 per cent, Sugar leading. Manhattan was an exception, having been irregular throuhout and closed only \( \frac{1}{2}\) cetter than on Saturday. Among the specialites Minneapolis and St. Louis preferred fell 2 per cent.

The railway and miscellaneous bond market was dull and strong. The total sales were \( \frac{3}{2}\) for cert.

Silver, Gold and Exchange Markets.

New York October 19.—Silver was firm and higher, certificates at the board advancing to 66 on purchases of 11,000 ounces. Bar silver sold at 65½ and Mexican dollars were unchanged at 50½652.

Bullion dealers report a good demand for gold today. Rates remain ¼6½ per cent for spot delivery, ½ per cent for gold to arrive and 1½ per cent for calls.

Heidelbach, Ickelhelmer & Co. have increased their imports by the Etruria from $1,000,000 to $1,250,000. Lazard Freres has turned in $700,000 to the sub-treasury for examination. In the open market in London gold bullion has declined to 77s. 11½6.

Foreign exchange was demoralized again today. There was a regular flood of commercial bills due to the unusually heavy demand for our wheat, cotton and other domestic products. Posted rates were reduced a full cent for banker's long sterling to $4,80½ and ½ a cent for demand, to $4.84. The inquiry from remitters is light. Bankers look for renewed imports of gold in the immeliate future.

The steamer La Gascogne, which arrived from Europe yesterday, brought 2.500,000 francs gold, consigned to Lazard Freres.

Early Morning Gossip.

New York, October 19.—(Over the Paine-Murphy Co.'s Private Wire.)—Henry Bros., Chapin, Lawson and Doremus were among the largest sellers of American Tobacco Saturday. Chauncey Bros. and Tharp & Bryan were among the largest buyers. The fact that the general market did not deciline in the least under the 5 point drop in Tobacco, has beer such as to check general trading in the stock, and even the room deal was over, and thereby induce some is disposed to look on rather than to operate. Traders thought the intention of the decline was to make it appear that the short selling.

While it is generally admitted that the Havemeyer are out of their sugar stock it is believed that they are in a position to buy back, as the general conditions change for the better. They are all said to be watching the short interest and to have expressed a belief that it is getting unwieldy and restless. Everybody seems to be bearish on Sugar, which makes an excellent opportunity for insiders to apply some pressure. The weakness in the last few days is set down to a weaker raw sugar market. The street believes that the Sugar Company, while sold out of its refined, has on hand a large quantity araws, and that the break in raw sugars works against it, so that whenever the raw sugar market is weak, traders are inclined to sell Sugar stock rather freely.

The decrease is practically 356,000 in the earnings of St. Paul about metropolitan expectations. These decreases are, however, having a depressing effect abroad where the causes do not appear to be as well understood. As a result, London has been a moderate seller of St. Paul lately, and was a seller at Saturday's close. Lower houses are offering privileges on the stock at a price which indicates little expectation of advance. For instance, cables Saturday authorized calls on St. Paul at the market good until the end of November for 25s per cent, implying a belief that the stock would soon go much above 73, even.

Paine-Murphy Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, October 19.—At the opening today prices advanced 12 to 17 points.
Liverpool was higher both for futures and spots, and frost was reported in various sections of Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee. But very little damage was claimed, however, but in the absence of buying orders, prices slowly receded, closing at a net advance of 263 points with sales of 20,500 bales. There was some realizing, which contributed to weaken the tone. Shorts covered moderately, and the crop movement at some Texas points was smaller than at this time last year. In New Orleans December advanced 166 points but lost part of the rise. Liverpool advanced 1-16d on the spot, with sales of 10,000 bales. Futures there advanced 3½ to 4½ points. Spot cotton in New York was unchanged, with sales of 67 bales for spinning and deliveries on contract of 2,000 bales; middling upland 715-16c against 9½ last year. Savannah advanced ½6 and New Orleans and Norfelk 1-16c; Augusta declined 1-16c. New Orleans sold 7,000, Memphis 5,600, Augusta 2,051, and Savannah 1,100 bales. Augusta 2,051, and Savannah 1,100 bales. Augusta 1,852 last year: Memphis 8,719, against 10,611 lest vear Houston expects tomorrow 16,500 to 17,500, against 20,431 last week, and 17,760 last year; New Orleans 27,000 to 31,000, against 28,898 last year. The port receipts were 65,163 bales, against 69,074 last week, and 64,073 last year. The exports from the ports approximated 50,000 bales. Paine-Murphy Co.'s Cotton Letter. cept in the bottom lands, and warmer weather was predicted. Prices weakened on realizing sales and slowly receded. The crop movement at some interior points was smaller than a year ago and the estimated receipts at Houston and New Orleans tomorrow were smaller than on the same day last year. Bombay, under date of October 8th, reports: "Much more rain is needed. Picking has begun."

The Dry Goods Market. New York, October 19.—The dry goods market opens this week with quite a limited attendance of buyers. The general condition is without material change. The tone is dull, but at the same time steady.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 19.—(Special.)—Reports of frost at various points in the cotton beit caused a sharp advance in Liverpool and a rise of about 15 or 16 points here, but the greater part of the advance was lost before the close. January opened at 8.03, advanced to 8.04 and rapidly declined with scarcely anything like a rally to 7.90, closing at 7.9107.92 with the tone steady. After the close prices were a couple of points lower. The trouble is that there are too many bulls, and upon any advance there is too great a pressure to realize.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

From the Memphis district, Arkansas, portions of Alabama reports of a killing frost came to hand this morning, and on the execution of large American buying orders in Livrepool that market rapidly advanced, closing quiet, however, at a decline from the best prices. As our market is the highest of all it became the target for all of the cotton offerings either in Europe or the south, with the result of a decline from the opening prices to about Saturday evening's figures. The tightness of the money market continues to force cotton toward this port for delivery at a time when Europe is loth to believe that any factor but the movement governs the situation. Acting upon this idea they have been free sellers, and the trade is disposed to doubt that the frost did more than local damage. We, however, consider that the frost damage has been sufficient to destroy hopes of any large addition to the yield from the hitherto expected top crop throughout the Mississippi valley. Reports received from Memphis this afternoon confirm the frost reports of Saturday night and Sunday morning. They further state that ice was formed and broken in the St. Francis river in Arkansas Sunday morning. The trade, however, is incredulous, and refuses to place credence in these reports in the face of the large movement. Traders look for a lower market in Liverpool tomorrow. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

PAILWAY EARNINGS

outhern Reads Make a Better Showing Than Northern Lines.

ASSENGER TRAFFIC IS GOOD

he Freight Bate War Had Its Effect on Some of the Companies—New Theatrical Baggage Rules.

The railroads of the south furnish anper evidence that conditions in the south are better than they are in the north and est. In the two sections last named the rn ngs of the roads show decreases since July 1, while most of the southern lines show increased earnings. On the Atlantic seaboard the railroads failed to make a ood showing during July and August cause of the rate war that prevailed The losses, however, were in the freight ment, where the war raged. Pasger carnings have steadily increased ath by month over corresponding months last year. The Southern, Central, Atlanand West Point, the Nashville, Chattajoyed a better passenger traffic this year than they did last year. Strange to say, that up to October 1 the passenger earnings of the roads entering Atlanta were arger than for the corresponding period of 1895, notwithstanding the fact that they had the exposition travel last year. This ondition cannot be expected to continue uring this month, November and Decemher, when the passenger traffic was very heavy. It was surprising to the managers of find that September made a better show-ing than September of 1895. This shows that travel is steadly growing. In some cases his has been remarkable. It is argued that where the decrease have occurred in the last two months it to October 1, the Southern increased is earnings $205,000; the Louisville and Nashville, $484,000; the Mobile and Ohio, $27,000; the Norfolk and Western, $1,469,000, and the Georgia and Alabama, $248,000.

On this subject The Railway Age says:

"In August the earnings of 94,000 miles of roads were less by over $1,000,000 than in August, 1895, and, although September returns are not quite so unfavorable, still for $4.600 miles thus far reported upon there was a decrease of $184,000 compared with last year, and of the 122 roads named 68 show a falling off. The largest increase $ $188,273, by the Illinois Central; while here are two cases of decrease much greater—Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, 201,113, and Northern Pacific, $437,193. The morease came almost entirely from roads in the south and southwest, where the otton movement in September was re-narkably large, and hence the gain does not indicate any general improvement hroughout the country; while on the other and, the roads whose revenues depend argely upon the activity of mills and mines and upon the transportation of grain show in the aggregate a large falling off comin the aggregate a large failing oil compared with a year ago, when the financial question was not dominating.

"Nevertheless, the first nine months of the year have shown for the rallways as a whole a considerable increase in gross earnings over the same period of 1895 or 1894 and there is reason to home that the 1894, and there is reason to hope that the remaining three months for which reports remaining three mounts to which reports are yet to be received, will help to give a handsome balance for 1896 over the total are less than the ceither of the two previous years, although they will not be able to preshowing a loss instead of a ga'n. Returns of earnings up to September 30 are already at hand for a sufficient number of lines to enable an estimate of the general result, notwithstanding the fact that they gover considerably less than half the total mileage. Figures gathered by The Chronicle for 116 roads, with 92,331 miles of lines (of, which about 14,000 miles are in Canada and Mexico) show the following footing: "Gross earnings January 1 to September

Gross earnings January 1 to September 30, 1895, $327,422,140; gross earnings January 1 to September 30, 1896, $342,322,896. Increase, $14,900,726.

"In 1895 the gross earnings of all the rall-$25,000,000 more than in 1894, a gain of 2.39 per cent. But the earnings of 1894 showed the Immense falling off, compared with 1893, of $142,000,000, a loss of 11.64 per cent. So it will be seen that while the earnings of the partial mileage reported show a gain of the per cent over the correspondback to the earning results of 1893, or indeed of 1892, although since the end of the latter year, over 7,500 miles of new road have been

The Pullman Palace Car Company paid its regular $8 a share dividend last year. The total disbursements for the year were $1,500,000 and the surplus, after the payment of dividends was $1,547,000.

Then of dividends, was $1,647,000.

During the year 5,112,965 passengers were carried, an increase of about 325,000 passengers over the previous year.

MEAT PACKERS INDICTED.

They Kept Duplicate Records and De frauded the Railroads.

Some shippers of meats and poultry in the west have been indicted for underbill-ing. They were chiefly members of the Reid brothers' firm at Wichita, Kan. It on two kept two sets of books. In one set they put down the regular weights and class of meats shipped. In the other they recorded the poultry as dried meats, which take a much lower rate. In this way they would save the which take a much lower rate. In this way they would save $90 a car in freight. It was a clear case of fraud against the railroads. A superintendent of weighing for the roads got suspicious, because he saw great quantities of chickens going indetices were billed out. Carman, the Areighing agent, kept watch for two years before getting the necessary evidence. The Reids had one set of books for the inspectors to examine and the other was the spectors to examine and the other was the

It would seem from this that the western shippers were getting on to some of the curves of the roads themselves. There have been roads not very remote from At'anta which kept duplicate sets of books, one for their traffic department and the other for the inspectors of the association. But, of course, nothing so sly as this is done nowadays, or, at least, if it is, the secret is well kept.

Not Coercing His Men. President H. B. Plant has just returned to New York from a trip to Tampa. He stopped over in Wayeross on his way. While at Wayeross he stated that he was while at wayeross he stated that he was not undertaking to coerce his employes into voting for McKinley. "What I want," said Mr. Plant, "is not politicians, but railroad men who will do their duty to us and to the public."

Mr. Plant is in good health. He has spent a large sum this summer in improvements at Tampa.

Restricting Advertising.

Restricting Advertising.

The roads in the Western Passenger Association have decided to restrict their advertising to standard daily and weekly papers and standard magazines. They are soing to drop commercial periodicals, and those printed by organized societies, catalones and all advertising mediums of that character are to be tabooed. This is in line with a rule adopted by the Joint Traffic Association.

Colonel Jee James explained that the company would push the work to completion as fast as possible.

An ordinance to regulate the weight of bakers' bread was reported adversely and laid on the table. The bakers want the bread made by them to be uniform in weight.

The Griffin bid for the paving of Eliza beth street was adopted by council. By resolution of Alderman Woodward $500 of the money pa'd the city by Sexton Clayton in settlement of his shortage will be used in improving the walks and drains of Oak-cemetery. That Triangular Lot Again. The issue between the city and the state as to the proposed transfer of the city's triangular lot between Whitehall street and triangular lot between Whitehall street and Pryor street, in the rear of the buildings fronting on Alabama street, will not be settled for at least two more weeks. The opposition to the transfer is growing and it is probable that there will be a hard fight against the proposition in council. The matter was discussed yesterday afterneon on a report of the special committee in charge of the matter, which recommends that the transfer be made. Colonel Albert Howell, chairman of the committee, declined to sign the report and he opposed the proposed transfer in the council. He says that the city ought not to give the lot to the state as is proposed. He thinks that the city ought not to put it into the power of the state to charge other likes of railroad than its own—the other lines of railroad than its own-the Western and Atlantic-for the use of the tracks now on the property of the city. Colonel W. A. Wimbish, special attorney for the state in matters affecting the interests of the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, appeared before the council terests of the Western and Atlantic Rail-rcad Company, appeared before the council and he argued for his side of the question. He says that the interests of the city will be protected by the state and that the lot will not be used for the purpose of extort-ing money from railroad companies for its use if deeded to the state. He said that the property new used es Well street belongs property now used as Wall street belongs to the state and that it could close up the street at any time.

Mr. Hugh Dorsey answered Colonel Wimbish. He spoke for Dorsey, Brewster & Howell and Colonel N. J. Hammond, attorneys for the Southern railway and other torneys for the Southern rallway and other roads opposing the proposed transfer. Mr. Dorsey made a favorable impression by his talk and his request that the matter be recommitted to the special committee so that another hearing could be had was granted by the council. The matter will be taken up by the committee again, at which meeting the committee again, at which meeting the opponents of the scheme will endeavor to show that the city ought hot to give away its property as proposed.

Wants To Put in Show Windows. Mr. Jonathan Norcross, one of the oldes and asked that he be allowed the use of two feet of the sidewalk in front of his building at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets for show window purposes. He says that the city made an agreement with him in April, 1859, by which he was to have the right to use two feet of the sidewalk in front of his property. of the sidewalk in front of his property line in putting down steps to his basement in the building which formerly occupied the site of the new Norcross building.

Mr. Norcross stated that if he is allowed to put in show windows the sidewalk will still be ten feet wide in the clear. He says that the sidewalk in front of his building is wider than any other in the city and that the window would not interfere with the rights of the people.

Paid $4,000 for the Property.

City Engineer Clayton was asked about the matter and he said that years ago the city bought enough property to make Peachtree street sixty feet wide from property line an each side of the street. He said that if the show windows are put in the city will not then have sixty feet, but will have only fifty-eight foot. feet. He said that the city paid $4,000 for twenty feet of property so as to enable it to make the street sixty feet wide in the

Of the public by sustaining practical and honorable methods. The average span of life allotted to specialists who advertise their services is from one to two years, and with the average case, newspaper advertising only serves to bring out the imperfections of the advertiser. The people have been so often disappointed that they have been so often disappointed that they have been so often disappointed that they have inclined to suspect bad faith on the part of the advertiser. This rule, however, does not apply to Dr. Hathaway & Co. Old residents who observe the patients daily going to the office of these specialists, recall the fact that they saw the same thing six years ago. It is thoroughly understood that the doctors have adopted skillful and honorable methods for the treatment of the sick; that they fulfill all their promises, and that they find it easy to sustain a reputation made years ago. This explains why public confidence in Dr. Hathaway & Co. seems permanent and unchangeable, while others flourish bravely for a little while and are then seen no more. That these physicians are highly successful is seen by the fact of the many cares perfected of aliments which in many cases were pronounced incurable by reputable physicians. In many instances through gratitude for the physicians and a desire to ald their fellow sufferers, these cured patients publicly recommend these expert specialists.

WARRANTS HANG OVER HIM

He Is Charged with Cheating and Swindling—Says He Can Explain All If Given a Chance.

The meteoric career of Charles H, Boyd, the erstwhile lumber dealer and capitalist, as been cut short by Sheriff Paulk, of Irwin county, who reached the city last Saturday morning with a warrant for Boyd, charging him with cheating and swindling.

Close upon the heels of the Irwin county sheriff followed a number of other war-rants, and since last Friday morning, the day Boyd was arrested, many inquiries have been made as to his whereabouts by persons claiming to have been caught in persons claiming to intro limber trades.

Just at present it is not positively known where Boyd can be found, but the general impression is that he is now in Irwin county, where he is said to have been carried. by Sheriff Paulk late last Saturday even

In addition to leaving a number of accounts unpaid and several drafts un-protected, it is claimed by his creditors that Boyd also leaves a young wife whom he married only the day prior to his arrest. Last Thursday Boyd was married to a young lady of Ohio who has been visiting her sister on Jackson street. The marriage was the result of a short acquaintance, it s said, and was a case of love on first

Friday morning the bridegroom was ar-rested by the city police as he was about to enter the postoffice. Boyd was about to be carried to the stationhouse, it is said, when he importuned the officers to carry him to his office in the Fitten building and telephone to Sheriff Barnes, who held the warrants. This was done, and Deputy Sheriff Donohoo was sent from the sheriff's office and took charge of Boyd.

The warrant upon which Boyd was arrested was taken out by J. W. Smith. of Sycamore, Ga., who charged Boyd with having passed worthless checks upon him with the supress of defending him. All with the purpose of defrauding him. All day Friday Boyd was detained in the office of the sheriff, and Friday night he was permitted to return to the home of his bride for a few hours under the guard of a special officer. The next morning Sheriff Paulk, of Irwin county, arrived and Boyd was placed in the care of the sheriff. Since Boyd was turned over to Sheriff Paulk, it is supposed he was carried to Sycamore, where the prosecutor of the case lives. He was seen in Temple Court building late in the afternoon and stated that he would arrange matters, but later in the day it was given out in the sheriff's office that Boyd had been carried away. A number of warrants are now pending against Boyd which were taken out by Atlanta business men, and if he should be released from the Irwin county warrant, he would probably be brought back to face a number of serious charges here.

"I am entirely innocent of any intended fraud," said Boyd, Saturday. "It is black-mail, pure and simple, and I have been hounded down just at this time because I only married yesterday, and they have taken this advantage of me to humiliate me, hoping in this way to secure a payment of money I do not owe."

It was stated yesterday that Boyd was arrested several months ago in South Carolina on the charge of cleating and swind-ling, but extradition papers were not hon-bred, as a similar warrant was taken out in that state which was prior to the one from Georgia. Boyd has been in Atlanta six or eight months, and when he first arrived in the city he endeavored to tranact business with the Merchants' bank, but the account is said to have been thrown out because it was not considered good.

The funeral services of Mr. G. D. Wells, of Stone Mountain, Ga., were held from his late residence Sunday afternoon, October 18th, 4 o'clock. Rev. Virgil Norcross, of Atlanta, assisted by his pastor, Rev. J. R. Carswell, officiating, Interment at Stone Mountain cemetery, Mr. Wells had for many years been a constant member of the Baptist church, was a member of the town council and a good citizen. Quite a large crowd gathered to pay their last tribute of love and esteem. The floral offerings were numerous and handsome, showing the tender affection so many bore the deceased. We extend our sympathy to the family and friends, praying that they may realize the fact that all things work together for good to those that love the Lord.

Beyond comparison are the good qualities possessed by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the digestive organs and builds up the entire system.

Bridegroom Boyd Marries and Is Arrested Atlanta Conductors Organizing To Attend Their Big Convention Next May.

WILL HOLD A UNIQUE FAIR

Committee in Charge Arranging To Entertain the People by Presenting Something New.

The Atlanta division of the Order of Rail way Conductors will hold a fair some time in December for the purpose of raising funds to enable the conductors of the south and their friends to go to the Los Angeles, Cal., convention of that order next May.

The conductors will engage a special train and will travel in style, it being their intention to outdo the California con-ductors who came to the Atlanta conven-tion of the order last year on a magnificent tion of the order last year on a magnificent special over the Southern Pacific. All of the conductors in this and adjoining states who attend the convention will go on the special and the trip will be an enjoyable one for the railroad men.

A joint committee from the Atlanta division of the Order of Railway Conductors and one from the ledics' auxductors and one from the Indies' auxiliary of that organization, held a meeting yesterday and it was decided to begin the work of arranging for the fair. The two committees were appointed some time ago and they have already done much of the preliminary work assigned to them. of the preliminary work assigned to them The members of the committee state that the fair will be something entirely new in that line of entertainment. The originat ors of the idea say that new and unique features will be presented and that the fair is being designed to entertain the peopl as well as to increase the treasury of the conductors' division. It is probable that the fair will be held in the Granite hotel building, on Forsyth street.

It will be remembered that one of the most successful and interesting fairs ever held in Atlanta was that of the conductors they converge and the most successful and interesting fairs.

ters two years ago and the members of the order now propose to eclipse that effort in every respect. The fair this year will probably be the first of the season and it will be an entire success if the expecta-tions of the conductors are realized.

The special committee in charge of the affair consists of Mrs. W. S. Garr, Mrs. J. W. Rose, Mrs. J. C. Cannon, Mrs. C. V. Rainey and Mrs. J. W. Humphries, representing the ladies' auxiliary, and Messrs. J. W. Humphries, E. Buckmaster, W. R. Elliott, J. H. Latimer and T. J. Howell, representing the conductors' division.

Mr. Lineberry Breaks an Arm. Mr. S. L. Lineberry, of the Southern railroad, one of the best known conductors in this section, had the misfortune to break one of his arms two days ago. He attempted to board a car and missed his hold, falling to the ground. His left arm was broken and he was bruised by the fall. Mr. Lineberry has many friends in railroad circles who have tendered to him their regrets at his accident. He will be out of the service some time on account
